Arms aid pledged to Saudi Arabia

JIDDA, Saudi Arabia (AP) — President Nixon ended his visit to this Arab kingdom today with a pledge of increased arms aid to King Faisal.

"The United States will see to it that the level of security consistent with its responsibility to the Middle East is raised," Nixon said in remarks at King Faisal's palace.

"If Saudi Arabia is strong and secure, as it will be, it will enhance the chances for peace," the American leader said as he prepared to fly to Syria for the third leg of his Middle East tour.

Nixon flies to Israel Sunday and winds up his journey on Monday with a visit to Jordan.

Faisal responded to Nixon's pledge by expressing the hope that "all problems and blemishes that seem to exist between the United States and some Arab countries will be removed."

Faisal also criticized those who oppose Nixon in and out of the United States: "It is very important that our friends in the United States ... rally behind you in your efforts to secure peace."

"Anybody who stands against you in the United States or outside the United States of America or against your relationship with us has only one thing in mind, to splinter us and damage the chances for peace," Faisal said.

The exchange of remarks followed more than two hours of private talks between Nixon and Faisal. Unlike the toasts made at a state dinner Friday night, there was no mention, direct or indirect, of oil.

Faisal had gently reminded the United States Friday of its vulnerability to the Arab oil weapon. In what may be turning into an Arab tradition, King Faisal used the toast of a state dinner Friday night to remind Nixon of the crucial role played by the Palestinian question in the region.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat referred to the matter in a toast to Nixon on Wednesday, saying: "There is no other road for a durable peace without a political solution to the Palestinian problem."

Nixon was welcomed to Jidda Friday for an overnight stop by a friendly but traditionally lowkeyed population, contrasting to the almost hysterical crowds who greeted him in Egypt.

Brezhnev offers atom agreement

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev said Friday the Soviet Union is prepared to agree immediately with the United States on phasing out underground nuclear testing.

But Brezhnev did not indicate whether the Kremlin is prepared to allow on-site inspections — a major obstacle in previous talks.

American negotiators have consistently asserted that on-site inspections are necessary to prevent cheating, but the Soviets have argued that underground blasts can be detected electronically and have rejected on-site checks.

"We are ready to reach an agreement with the United States right now on the limitation of underground nuclear tests up to their full termination according to a coordinated timetable," Brezhnev said in a final campaign address before Sunday's elections to the Supreme Soviet.

While the outcome of such elections is predetermined, the campaign speeches are often used as a vehicle for major policy statements.

Brezhnev's declaration, coming less than two weeks before the start of President Nixon's visit here, indicated the Soviets hope that an agreement could be signed during the summit.

American technical experts have been in Moscow for two weeks exploring ways to broaden the 1963 test ban treaty, which prohibits atmospheric and undersea tests but makes no provisions for underground test.

Brezhnev's address coincided with an announcement that Nixon will attend a North Atlantic Treaty Organization summit in Brussels on June 26, the day before he departs for Moscow.

Brezhnev strongly defended Nixon's visit against "pessimistic estimations" in the foreign press. "Of course, nobody is going to solve in a rush questions which have not yet matured. But it is impossible, comrades, to make no headway."

He hailed the agreement to limit strategic arms signed by the United States and the Soviet Union in 1972, but he added: "We urge that the Soviet Union and the United States by mutual accord show the maximum restraint in further development of their armaments."

He attacked "those circles in the United States" which he said try to pin the escalation of the arms race on the Soviet Union.

—Washington Gov. Dan Evans said he will ask Congress to consider his proposal that Nixon be granted amnesty for any involvement in Watergate.

—Vice President Gerald R. Ford said he is certain the House will reject a move to impeach Nixon because "there just isn't any evidence."

—Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski said the House Judiciary Committee and not the Supreme Court should decide whether there was enough evidence for a grand jury to name Nixon as an indicted co-conspirator in the Watergate case.

—The U.S. Court of Appeals was asked to erase charges against the original seven Watergate break-in conspirators or at least to grant them new trials.

—U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard Gesell decided to continue with the trials of all defendants in the Ellsberg break-in case, ending uncertainty about whether the trial of John D. Ehrlichman would be separated from the others.

—Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., said leaks to the news media could threaten the rights of defendants at trials stemming from the Watergate investigation.

Industrial output shows rise in May

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's industrial production capacity shows signs of shaking off the slump brought on by the Arab oil embargo.

The Federal Reserve Board reported on Friday that industrial output, boosted by a reviving automobile industry, rose for the second month in a row in May.

The latest rise was four-tenths of 1 per cent. Output rose three-tenths of 1 per cent in April after four straight months of decline.

Although output is strengthening, the May index of 125.4 stood four-tenths of 1 per cent above a year earlier, but below the 127.5 index for November when the impact of the embargo hit.

Federal Reserve analysts said production is still shaky on the important raw materials level, but the figures lent some hope that the administration is right in its expectation that current economic miseries are bottoming out, if they haven't already.

The current struggle for industry is to gear up its production to satisfy surging demand. Companies producing metals and other materials for durable goods like automobiles rose slightly. Auto production itself was up almost 3 per cent in May to an annual level of 7.7 million cars. Last year at the same time, the industry was humming along at a 10 million-a-year clip.

The increase in production for durable goods suppliers was offset, however, by a decline among the manufacturers who make the basic materials for clothing and other non-durable goods.

Marriage at vets center unites World War I pair

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Maude Speake, 77-year-old former World War I Navy nurse, got a snappy salute from her new husband Friday as she became a June bride in the September of her years.

For her husband, Nicholas Walsh, World War I Army veteran, it was a first marriage at the age of 82.

Why did he wait so long to take the plunge?

"I never met a girl before I wanted to spend the rest of my life with," he said.

Mrs. Speake and Walsh were joined in matrimony in a simple service in the second floor chapel of the nursing home care unit at the Veterans Administration Center where they met. A group of nurses and patients looked on.

The Rev. George Hamilton, VA chaplain, officiated.

Walsh was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., and his bride in Elkhart, Ind. He said they met at the VA center in Dayton when he was an elevator operator.

"Maude was in a wheelchair and I always helped her in and out of the elevator," Walsh said.

"We got to know each other real well."

"Well, not too long ago I just told her that we have known each other for three years and it was about time we ended this thing and got married."

As she waited to be wheeled into the chapel, Mrs. Walsh said:

"We pulled one over on the head nurse on June 7. We told her we were going downtown shopping. We went shopping all right. We got blood tests and our marriage license."

The elderly couple was nervous. Their voices quavered as they exchanged vows. Walsh nearly dropped the wedding ring.

At the end of the ceremony the minister pronounced them man and wife and told Walsh to salute his bride.

Walsh brought his hand up quickly in a salute, then broke into laughter and bent over and kissed the new Mrs. Walsh.

Nurses and patients laughed and applauded.

Walsh said he and his bride would live at the VA center for a time and then: "We hope to get a small house in the suburbs and settle down and enjoy life together."

Dean immunity, meets linked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Meetings between President Nixon and then White House counsel John W. Dean III in February 1973 may have been aimed at giving Dean an excuse to claim executive privilege, according to a House Judiciary Committee staff memo quoted in today's Los Angeles Times.

According to the memorandum, grand jury testimony indicates that, prior to that time, Dean had been concerned that he could not make such a claim if called to testify before the Senate Watergate committee.

However, the Times noted that a cover letter to the May 24 memo from committee staff lawyer William P. Dixon said: "This memo is interpretative on my part and the facts presented herein may be interpreted differently by others."

The memo mentions grand jury testimony and other evidence to support a theory that Nixon participated in the Watergate cover-up, the Times says.

The Times quotes the memo as saying that Nixon didn't start meeting with Dean until Dean indicated fear that he would be called before the committee but wouldn't be able to claim executive privilege because he had not discussed Watergate directly with Nixon.

Nixon maintained publicly for two months thereafter that Dean could not testify because of executive privilege. He later relented on that and Dean linked the President to the cover-up in his testimony.

Treasurer denies charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic state Treasurer Gertrude Donahey Friday denied charges by her Republican challenger that she was negligent in the handling of employer contributions to the workmen's compensation fund.

Richard H. Harris of Wauseon, the GOP nominee, told newsmen Mrs. Donahey left more than $7 million in contributions in mail bags for more than two months.

Harris said he was aware of the problem because he was district office coordinator for the Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation for two years after Democrats took control of the Statehouse in 1970.

"There has never been any bureau mail or any other mail lying around in this office," Mrs. Donahey countered. She said there was about a "two-week delay" in some of it at first because she inherited the procedures and personnel of the previous Republican administration.

She said she worked with the bureau to correct mail procedures in the office. "The old procedures, we felt, were too slow," she said.

But Harris said Mrs. Donahey was not aware that the money was in her office until notified of the funds by irked employers.

Harris, now manager of a Toledo law office, said at the time he was in charge of all of Ohio's 16 district bureau offices of workmen's compensation and was acting deputy administrator of the Cleveland office.

As a result of the negligence, he said, Joseph J. Sommer, then administrator of the bureau and now director of the Department of Administrative Services, sought transfer of the responsibility for the funds to the bureau.

"They were going to transfer the responsibility but she (Mrs. Donahey) went to the governor's office and got it stopped," Harris said.

He said the fact that the money was lying around cost taxpayers about $100,000 in interest.

Both Mrs. Donahey and Sommer said they did not talk to the governor's office about the matter.

Sommer said the mail procedure had to be changed to "work smoothly."

"At the time, I was disturbed," he said. "I said if we're going to have problems let's take the responsibility away from the treasurer and put it in the bureau."

Sommer said the $7 million figure and the $100,000 lost in interest mentioned by Harris had to be "conjecture."

I don't know where he came up with that," Sommer said.

Also at his Friday news conference, Harris announced plans for a 910-mile walking trip around the border of the state, beginning in Toledo today. He estimated the trip will take 91 days.

Harris, 42, said he will walk 10 miles each morning and travel inland by car to "meet with the people" in the afternoons and evenings.

Evidence mounts on Kissinger role

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second member of the House Judiciary Committee has said the panel has evidence contradicting sworn testimony by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger about his role in national security wiretapping.

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., said Friday that the evidence shows Kissinger ordered the telephone taps. "When the taps are made public the country will know he is guilty," Brooks said.

Another committee member, Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., said this week that the committee has positive proof that Kissinger initiated the wiretaps, despite the secretary's sworn denial.

Meanwhile, Sen. J.W. Fulbright urged the Senate to wait to see the evidence before arriving at any decisions on the part played by Kissinger in the wiretaps.

Kissinger testified before the committee last September that he named persons who had access to national security information that was leaked to the news media. But he said he did not order wiretaps of 13 National Security Council staff members and four newsmen.

Recent news reports have told of a larger Kissinger role in the wiretapping.

In Beaumont, Tex., Brooks said, "I hope the Judiciary Committee will release FBI records, tapes of White House conversations and transcripts of those conversations so the public can be fully aware of whatever part Mr. Kissinger had in the selection of people who were to be bugged.... I think when that is released it will let everybody know what his part was."

Kissinger on Tuesday asked the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to take another look into his September testimony and the committee is preparing to do so. Kissinger said he would resign if his name is not cleared.

Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said Friday he feels a Senate majority was premature in approving a resolution lauding Kissinger's integrity.

Top SALT negotiator quits; takes slam at President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The resignation of a top U.S. negotiator at the SALT talks raises again the question of whether Watergate is affecting foreign policy.

Paul H. Nitze, senior Pentagon negotiator at the talks, quit Friday, leaving little doubt that he thought the scandal had weakened the ability of the Nixon administration to negotiate a strong pact with the Soviet Union.

"Until the office of the presidency has been restored to its principal function of upholding the Constitution and taking care of the fair execution of the laws, and thus be able to function effectively at home and abroad, I see no real prospect for reversing certain unfortunate trends in the evolving situation," Nitze's statement said.

Although Nitze did not mention Watergate or President Nixon, his action was a clear blow to the administration. It came less than two weeks before Nixon was to go to Moscow on June 27.

Some sources interpreted Nitze's resignation at this time as an expression to show disapproval in advance, should Nixon sign a new SALT agreement with fewer safeguards for American security than Nitze favors.

Several key members of Congress expressed similar concern Friday about Nixon's offer of nuclear aid to Egypt. They expressed fear that it might lead to nuclear weapons in the Middle East.

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., both of whom had opposed Nixon's visit to the Middle East while the House impeachment investigation is in progress, said the nuclear offer indicated they were right.

The question about the relationship between foreign policy and domestic affairs has bothered policy and lawmakers ever since the Watergate scandal erupted.

EPA slates water pollution meet Monday in Chillicothe

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency will hold a public meeting to discuss water pollution problems in the Scioto River Basin and how they can be resolved Monday, June 17 in Chillicothe.

"Communities in the basin, which extends from west of Kenton in Hardin County and North Marion to the Ohio River in Portsmouth, are discharging millions of gallons of untreated or partially treated sewage into the river daily," said Ira L. Whitman, director of the Ohio EPA. "This pollution has greatly reduced fishing and other water-related recreational opportunities for the public and we are inviting any concerned citizen to attend."

"At the same time, these discharges have increased the cost of treating sewage in communities where industries have not been adequately charged for the cost of municipal treatment of their wastes," Whitman noted. "The cost of water treatment in downstream communities has also risen accordingly."

Whitman said the Chillicothe meeting would inform area residents about the Ohio EPA's River Basin Water Quality Waste Load Allocation Report. The report, which will provide the basis for planning a water quality management program for the basin, describes the types of water pollution problems in the river. It also ranks municipal dischargers in order of severity, predicts future water consumption and discharges by residents and industry along the river, and calculates the amount by which such effluent must be reduced to meet state and federal requirements. Information included in the report also serves as the basis for issuing water discharge (NPDES) permits.

The Federal Water Pollution Control Act's amendments of 1972 instructs each state to adopt and periodically revise water quality plans for each river basin, Whitman said. Continual input is necessary from both government representatives and the general public.

Whitman said the final plan compiled by the Ohio EPA will contain the report, a ranking of sections of the river according to severity of pollution, an analysis of alternative measures needed to improve or maintain water quality, and timetables for Ohio EPA action. The plan will also provide a means of coordinating planning for municipal facilities and areawide comprehensive water programs in heavily-polluted metropolitan areas.

The public meeting will be held at Chillicothe High School, 381 Yocotangee Parkway, from 1 until 5 p.m. and to reconvene at 6:30 p.m.

Copies of the full text and a summary of the water quality report are available for public inspection in the Adams, Clark, Champaign, Clinton, Crawford, Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin, Hardin, Hocking, Highland, Jackson, Logan, Madison, Marion, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Union and Vinton county libraries.

Additional copies of the summary are available from the southeast and central district offices. The southeast district office is located at Rt. 3, Box 353, Logan, Ohio, 43188. The central district office is headquartered at 369 E. Broad St., Columbus, Ohio, 43215. Persons can also contact Cal Taylor, division of planning, 395 E. Broad Street, Columbus, (614-466-8866).

subdued in his greetings, rose at the end of the state dinner and said: "We believe that there will never be a real and lasting peace in the area unless Jerusalem is liberated and returned to Arab sovereignty, unless liberation of all the occupied Arab territories is achieved and unless Arab peoples of Palestine regain their rights..."

Nixon's response to Faisal was the same as to Sadat.

"We want to play a helpful role..." he said. "But we are aware that we cannot produce an instant formula to solve all long-time differences."

The king considers himself responsible for the protection of the Moslem holy places in Jerusalem and wants all Jewish participation in the Biblical city ended.

Saudi Arabia was a leader of the Arab oil boycott against the United States after last October's Middle East war, and it has implied that the embargo might be renewed if America fails in its efforts for a Middle East peace.

Fireworks ruling set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision on the legality of traditional Fourth of July fireworks will be made by Monday, government officials said Friday.

Chinese and American fireworks makers have petitioned the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission to delay until after July 4 its ban on fireworks.

The petition was filed by the Oklahoma Pyrotechnics Association, Macao Fireworks Manufacturers Association and Li and Fung Ltd., a Hong Kong trading company.

If the new regulations are put into effect, the petitions said, the firms may be forced to repurchase $50 million worth of banned fireworks.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Consumers League of Ohio has asked the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to deny utilities the right to include contributions to charity as part of the cost of doing business.

It is an issue the PUCO is considering.

Dr. Sweet to speak at Rotary Tuesday

Dr. David C. Sweet, director of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, will be the guest speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club Tuesday at the Country Club.

The program has been arranged by Laurence (Bucky) Dumford.

Prior to his cabinet appointment, Dr. Sweet was head of regional development programs at Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus. During his eight years at Battelle, he directed and participated in economic research studies on a wide range of subjects throughout the U.S. and abroad.

DR. SWEET has academic training in fields closely related to economic development, including geography, economics and planning. He holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Rochester, a master's degree from the University of North Carolina and a doctorate degree from Ohio State University.

In Jan. 1972, the Ohio Departments of Development and Urban Affairs were merged by Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan. The new Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development represents the first coordinated state-level effort in Ohio for economic development, planning, housing, community assistance, administration of justice, human resources and manpower development services. Gov. Gilligan named Dr. Sweet to head the agency.

The Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development is charged with implementing Gov. Gilligan's executive orders on state planning regions and service districts. Ohio's districting program is unique because it combines action to streamline state service delivery with a move to stimulate planning for regional needs at the local level.

Hog situation upsetting

Consumers are complaining about the high price of meat, livestock producers are protesting about the heavy losses they are taking, and the middlemen are asking for more pay for their services!

We reported on the beef situation and outlook recently, so we will focus on hogs and pork this time. As is often true, we study recent trends to help us foresee the future.

U.S. farmers produced a record number of hogs in 1971. There was enough pork to provide 73 pounds per person, according to USDA calculations. That was 15 per cent more than the average amount available during the 10 previous years.

RETAIL prices were marked down to induce consumers to buy the record volume of pork. Hog prices tumbled from around $27 to $15 a hundred pounds. At the same time, the blight cut corn production, boosting the cost of hog feed. Many farmers decided to close out their hog enterprises.

The result was only 67.4 pounds of pork per person in 1972, and 61.6 pounds in 1973. Beef output was also reduced, from a record 116 pounds in 1972 to 109.5 pounds in 1973. The primary reason was that ranchers and farmers retained more females for breeding, so had fewer animals to sell for slaughter.

Consumers were reluctant to give up meat one day a week or to serve smaller portions until prices were raised substantially. Then some militants staged a meat boycott, demanding that prices be reduced. Government regulations concerning prices and profits and strikes by truckers further distorted prices and the flow of livestock and meat from the farm to the consumer.

Hog prices reached a spectacular peak of $58 a hundred pounds last August. Consumers, however, did not support prices at that level, and hog prices came tumbling down. They have been around $25 recently.

There seem to be three principal reasons for the decline in hog prices. First, pork production is slightly greater than last year. Second, rising costs for many other food and nonfood items have forced many consumers to limit their spending for pork. Third, marketing costs of all kinds have been increasing rapidly. Since these added costs cannot be passed on to consumers, they are subtracted from the amounts paid to farmers.

LABOR is by far the biggest cost in moving pork from the farm lot to the consumers' grocery bag. Wage rates are increasing more rapidly this year than in 1973. Government wage restraints have been removed, and workers are demanding bigger increases because of higher inflation.

At recent prices, farmers were losing about 16 cents a pound on the pork consumers were buying. This discouraging situation is causing some farmers to quit the hog business. On the other hand, some hog producers are increasing production, hoping for higher prices.

The USDA is making a survey of hog producers. The results will be revealed on June 21. That report will show the number of hogs and pigs on farms June 1, the farmers' farrowing intentions for June through November. Those figures should provide some clues to hog and pork prices for the next twelve months.

barring imports, officials here say privately some progress is being made and that a compromise soon might be worked out.

The Canadian situation will be on the agenda next Monday at a special White House meeting called to examine the current profit crunch on livestock producers.

As announced Wednesday by the White House the meeting will include representatives of meat packing firms, retail grocery stores, livestock producers and the farm credit sector.

Detect chemical in beef liver

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says it has detected traces of the chemical DES in a beef animal liver, the first appearance of the controversial growth hormone since a federal appeals court overturned a ban on the chemical last January.

Although statistically minor — it involved one liver among 1,049 tested this year — the reappearance of DES comes as the government is courting Canada to reopen its import door to U.S. beef.

Canada barred entry of U.S. beef and live cattle two months ago unless Washington could certify those items had never been exposed to DES, a synthetic growth hormone which has caused cancer in laboratory test animals.

The crackdown by Canada meant closing a market worth $100 million a year to U.S. beef producers at a time cattle prices sagged precipitously from peaks six months ago.

Officials said Wednesday the DES, which in the past has been detected only in animal livers and not in red meat or muscle tissue, was shipped from Nebraska to a Midwest slaughter plant where it was found by federal inspectors.

Farming exports hit record high

American farm exports for the 1973-74 fiscal year are expected to set an all-time record of about $20 billion—three times greater than 10 years ago.

Higher incomes abroad and countries' needs for additional food supplies have increased the demand for high-quality U.S. food.

"THIS BOOM in agricultural exports has significant implications for us all," according to Ed Watkins, Extension economist, food distribution, Ohio State University.

Increased farm exports in 1973 provided over 100,000 jobs off the farm. They also contributed to a more favorable balance of trade and a stronger dollar on the world market.

Because of the increased demand for food abroad and at home, farmers' incomes went up this past year. Consequently, they increased their spending tremendously for farm machinery and other production items, consumer goods, and investments.

"The kinds of increases have a snowballing effect," Watkins explains. "For example, farmers received income and pass it on to farm machinery dealers. The dealers pass it on with new orders to farm machinery manufacturers. The manufacturers have increased sales and expanded their plants, or, in some cases, build new ones."

Men and women are hired to build and work in the new or expanded plants. They spend part of their new paychecks on more and better food, and the cycle starts all over again.

Without exports, there would be no market for the products from one out of four harvested acres, nationally, Watkins reveals. Farmers would have lower incomes and the sale of farm supplies and services would nose-dive. The system would work in reverse, closing down plants and eliminating jobs. Consumers might have to pay more for imported items, as the nation attempted to balance its international account.

"IF FARM exports were cut drastically, it would make food production less economical in the U.S. and, in the long run, consumers would have to pay more for food," Watkins says.

"When our farmers go all out for maximum yield, they can produce at maximum efficiency."

Many types of new jobs are created by increased farm exports. For every $100 million increase in grain exports, more than 3,100 jobs are generated in warehousing, transportation, and trade.

Another 1,900 jobs are created by each $100 million increase in soybeans exported.

"Taxpayers benefit from increased farm exports," Watkins points out. "As a result of the greatest export volume in our history and increased demand at home for food and fiber products, farm subsidies have been drastically reduced."

Government restrictions on the use of farm land have been lifted. In 1973 farmers had an extra 40 million acres of land for unrestricted use, plus another 19 million acres in 1974.

a subsidiary of the Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co. The purchase must be approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

"It's almost like a homecoming," Schnell said. "The Farm Bureau started the station in 1947 and we're glad to be getting it back." WRFD's rural heritage is reflected in its call letters which stand for the U.S. Post Office's rural mail designation "Rural Free Delivery."

"Nationwide planned to sell the station and its purchase by the Farm Bureau will insure that it will continue as Ohio's foremost agricultural information station," he said.

WRFD presently broadcasts one hour of farm news from 12 noon until 1 p.m., Monday through Friday and 45 minutes of news at the noon hour on Saturday. Schnell said the agricultural format will be strengthened but there will be no change in basic program format. The station will continue to broadcast its popular blend of contemporary music.

"WRFD has a winning combination and its success is verified by its ratings, which are among the fastest rising in central Ohio," he said. "We don't want to do anything which will disturb that."

The station broadcasts at 88 on the AM dial over a 60-county area. Schnell said WRFD will significantly add to the Farm Bureau's goal of providing Ohio farmers with the most up-to-date agricultural information. It also will provide the public some knowledge and insight into the production and marketing of food as well as a well-rounded program of news and music.

Farm surpluses are dwindling

Throughout the world, America has been thought of as a huge storage warehouse for farm products. But no more, according to Wallace Barr, Extension economist at Ohio State University. "For all practical purposes our surpluses are gone," he says.

Stocks of all grains are below a year ago. Supplies of all four feed grains — corn, oats, barley and sorghum — totaled 161 million tons on January 1, 1974, seven per cent less than holdings on the same date the year before.

Wheat supplies in storage on Jan. 1 were 33 per cent less than the year before. The 1973-74 wheat picture was highlighted by a record crop, near record disappearance, record prices, and prospects for the smallest stocks in more than two and a half decades. This summer's wheat crop will be huge and record setting.

Feed grain supplies have shrunk because both domestic and foreign meat producers are increasing their herds. Grain for human consumption has flowed around the world from America's storehouses.

Thirty-four per cent of the nation's timber lies within the national forests, National Geographic says.

OHIO HISTORY — Like the pages of early Ohio history, these wooden gates on the old Miami and Erie Canal open the door to a bygone era at Independence Dam State Park east of Defiance. Visitors can visualize the boats being slowly pulled through the locks as they walk along the park's three-mile hiking trail, which used to be the towpath.

Wheat crop disease problems discussed

By JOHN GRUBER
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

During the last two weeks I have had several calls concerning disease problems in wheat, and there are many people who have been curious as to the cause of wheat going down in many fields around the county.

Well, the disease has been tentatively identified by the Plant Disease Clinic as take-all disease. This disease is a soil-borne fungus. It is not a new disease, but it has not been found too often in Ohio until this year. The disease has been identified in about 15 western and southwestern Ohio counties. It has been most serious in

Russia boosts farming outlays

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Soviet Union is devoting 26 per cent of its budget on agriculture to increase farm output and bring virgin land into production, the country's deputy minister of agriculture said Tuesday.

Dr. Boris Runov said Russia is looking to the United States for the know-how on organization and management of large-scale agribusiness enterprises, especially in the production and processing of beef, poultry, pork and dairy products.

Runov conducted a seminar at Ohio State University. He also visited agricultural research and production facilities here and conferred with university and agribusiness representatives about possible cooperation on future projects.

Ohio winter wheat crop estimated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's winter wheat crop this year is expected to be 67.8 million bushels, the state's second largest production on record and triple the 1973 output.

The Ohio Crop Reporting Service estimates, based on field conditions as of June 1, that 1,540,000 acres will be harvested. That's a 114 per cent increase from last year and the largest wheat acreage in Ohio since 1954.

The service said yield per acre is forecast at 44 bushels.

fields which were in wheat the previous year.

The symptoms of take-all are stunting, premature ripening, and lodging. Take-all results in root rot and rotting and disintegration of the stem bases. The stems bases are often blackened near the crown. Plants break off at the crown or are easily removed at the soil when pulled.

If you are finding these problems in your wheat fields give me a call at the Extension Office so we can determine how widespread the problem is in this area.

A DRIVE around the county points out some interesting facts about crop progress in Fayette County. Planting is about 98 per cent completed with only a few scattered fields remaining to be planted. Corn and soybeans were in the ground well ahead of last years slow wet spring, and crops are looking excellent. Many corn and bean producers have been commenting on how well the crops look for this time of year.

With the excellent "head start" that many corn and soybean fields got we should have some good prospects for the Fayette County Corn and Soybean Club this year. Its not too late for sign up and the Agronomy Committee is looking for several new members to sign up this year.

Gypsy Moth traps set

COLUMBUS — Gene R. Abercrombie, director of the Ohio Department of Agriculture, announced the ODA's Division of Plant Industry started its fourth annual campaign against the destructive Gypsy Moth recently.

Harold Porter, Chief of the Division of Plant Industry said, "Eight thousand traps will be distributed throughout Ohio by July 15th. Several agencies, including the Ohio Departments of Natural Resources and Transportation, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and, the National Campers and Hikers Association, are cooperating with the Ohio Department of Agriculture in placing the traps. The heaviest concentration of traps will be in those areas where the chances of artificial spread are high, such as campgrounds, parks, trailer courts, etc."

The dixie-cup shaped traps are baited with a synthetic sex-attractant called Disparlure and placed in trees. The bait is designed to attract and capture only the adult male Gypsy Moth, and has no toxic properties to either the moths or to humans.

ABERCROMBIE explained that the insect poses a major threat to the nation's trees. The Gypsy Moth feeds on leaves while in its caterpillar stage. A single two-inch caterpillar can eat one square foot of leaves every 24 hours. In heavily infested areas, large trees are quickly stripped of their foliage. One defoliation may kill evergreens and other softwood trees; repeated defoliations may kill hardwoods. Abercrombie emphasized that over one million acres of Pennsylvania forest were defoliated during 1973, and each year the moth continues in its westward movement.

Campers and mobile home owners can help stop the spread of Gypsy Moths by carefully inspecting the underside of trailers, hitches, vehicles, steps, awnings, camper-trailer extensions, gas bottle rims, loose metal underneath trailers and any other equipment for the female moth's egg masses. The eggs are velvety and covered with buff or yellowish hairs. The masses are about 1½ inches long, ¾ inch wide and contain from 100 to 1,000 eggs. If any egg masses are found, they should be removed and destroyed immediately.

Director Abercrombie said, "Although 18 males have been captured in Ohio within the past three years by use of the trapping program, Ohio does not now have any known infestations within its borders."

Opinion And Comment

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Age of double digit fidgets

We are afflicted with the "double digit" fidgets. Paul Samuelson, the Nobel Prize economist, thinks our "double digit" inflation is the Number One worry of the American people. Borrower's, spending 11 per cent for money, begin to wonder about a double digit piled on top of another double digit.

If you have to make enough money to cover a 10 per cent inflation and also to pay another 10 per cent in interest charges, that adds up to 20 per cent. Making a profit in such a climate necessarily entails pricing policies that only add to the general sickness.

How do we escape from the cul de sac? Every year, in June, William Partridge, the editorial director of Economic Inequities in Stanardsville, Virginia, takes the combined public and private net debt figures as released by the government, and compares them to the figure for the Gross National Product. His so-called Debt-Production Ratio invariably demonstrates that borrowed money seems powerless in our present circumstances to earn enough to provide for the extinguishment of the debts of yesteryear.

It follows, as a matter of elementary logic, that we are risking a credit collapse unless we find a way to turning debt into an increase in the Gross National Product that will cover interest and amortization in addition to earning enough to meet the payroll and provide something for the investors.

IN 1973, OUR total public and private net debt advance to $2,526 billion from $2,270 billion in 1972. This means that net debt over 1972 jumped 11.3 per cent. Public net debt (Federal, state and local) went to $593.4 billion from $557.6 billion, a 6.4 per cent increase. This is the figure that most people worry about when they complain that deficit spending is a primary cause of our inflated prices. Nobody talks about the 1973 jump in private net debt to $1,932 billion from $1,713 billion in 1972, a staggering increase of 12.8 per cent.

What brothers Bill Partridge is the five-year drift of his Debt-Production Ratio. His refined debt-production figures from 1969 to the present show an ever-widening gap between addition to borrowing and the Gross National Product. The DPR for 1969 was 2.00 It rose to 2.08 in 1970, to 2.12 in 1971 to 2.18 in 1972, and to 2.19 in 1973.

Mr. Partridge's question is this: If the scissor blade that represents debt is always swinging away from the blade that represents product, how can you keep corporate establishments going? U.S. corporations borrowed more in the 1969-73 span than they set aside for taxes, dividends and undistributed profits. Assuming that they borrowings will pay off over, say, a 20-year period, the fact that the scissor blades have been going apart for five years would not seem lethal. But what if there is no improvement in the Debt-Production Ratio? On the record, the corporation have not been making enough money in the past five years to make any real profits.

OUR PER CAPITA debt has taken a 50 per cent jump in five years. The per capita figure for 1969 was $8,552. It was $9,117 for 1970, $9,884 for 1972, $10,860 for 1972, and $12,039 for 1973. The individual, of course, is not personally responsible for corporate or for government debt. But if there should be a national credit collapse, the individual would have to take the total rap, for he depends on business for his livelihood and on government for his protection. Even those who live on welfare transfer payments are dependent on the taxes that business generates for the food they put in their mouths.

A credit collapse, says, Mr. Partridge, would be followed by a welfare payments collapse. The result would be anarchy or dictatorship. The reason is elementary: Welfare is paid out of production.

Partridge predicts a 10.1 per cent inflation for 1974. Paul Samuelson, though he admits to "double digit" inflation now, says the "experts" think the inflation will recede to seven or eight per cent by the fourth quarter. Query: What have the "experts" ever done about debt, both public and private, in the past five years to make Samuelson's optimism more credible than Bill Partridge's pessimism?

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SUNDAY, JUNE 16

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)
You will find the "little" things rewarding now. Don't look for the spectacular. Be satisfied with even small gains.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)
A new outlook will help you to improve relations with family, friends. Insight may come through your highly intuitive faculties; more flexibility through the erasure of past concepts.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)
A day in which to get away from routine. New scenes, new people, new activities could spark a brand new interest in your life, make it more stimulating.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)
Do not become frustrated over possible delays or disappointments. With your innate intelligence and ingenuity, you can change undesirable situations.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)
Fine solar influences! With initiative and enterprise, more than usual can be achieved. Day will definitely respond to imagination, aggressiveness.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
A day for listening well and voicing well-considered opinions. Take stock of why certain maneuvers and tactics did not succeed in the past and avoid them now.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 23)
Your financial situation about to improve. A member of the opposite sex will provide useful information — and inspiration. You will know what has to be done.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Some favorable hours; others may present unexpected obstacles. With a steady step and self-confidence, however, you can take all in stride.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Present tendencies toward impulsiveness and excitement suggest that you handle all situations with "kid gloves." Regulate hours so that you will have time to enjoy a hobby.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Make no changes in matters now running smoothly, but keep looking nevertheless, toward areas in which there could be "standstills," where new tactics may be needed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Generous stellar influences make this an excellent day for making the most of unusual ideas and plans. Romance favored, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)
Fine Neptune influences. A good day for making important decisions. Also favored: maritime interests, outdoor pursuits (especially if connected with water), parapsychological experiments.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely versatile individual, intellectual in your leanings and outgoing in personality. Like most Geminians, you are unusually restless and constantly crave changes in activity and scenery. Thus you often scatter your energies, with resultant anxieties and tensions. You MUST learn to relax, and DO try to finish one project before taking up another, thus to avert confusion, and even chaos, in your life. You can become highly skilled with your hands and, in everything, your intuition and unusual sense of know-how keeps you in advance of the competition. You are tremendously interested in people and public affairs; would make an excellent journalist or lecturer. Also, endowed with insatiable curiosity, could excel as a detective or scientist. Other fields suited to your talents: the law, theater, advertising, architecture, painting and music. You are a born traveler and explorer; in fact, get more out of travel than those born under any other zodiacal sign.

MONDAY, JUNE 17
ARIES (March 21 to April 20)
Routine activities can go along nicely if you are in the driver's seat. Where you are an observer, be an astute, quiet one — but alert to new trends.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)
Under day's favorable influences, you can win new laurels by capitalizing on your fine imagination and by pooling ideas with those who share your enthusiasms.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)
Waste no time getting this day out of the planning stage and into enthusiastic, well-executed action. Any possible obstacle should stimulate you — not dismay.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)
Though many means for advancement exist, there is a possibility of throwing a wrench into the machinery through wrong attitudes, suspicion, tactless approaches. Care!

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)
A custom-made day for you and your activities. Especially favored: theatrical interests, legal activities, dealings in art objects.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Especially favored now: business and financial interests. Competition may be keen, but where you have the know-how, don't be afraid to get into the race.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
You are usually more than competent in handling difficulties "on your own" but this will be a day when you'll need a bit of advice. If so, seek it from experts only.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Be prepared for some opposition and be ready to counter — with tact. If well-planned, you could launch a new venture, but don't rush into the totally unfamiliar.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Jupiter influences indicate an extremely active day. Things should move along briskly, and you with them. But don't scatter your energies.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Some challenges indicated, but you have the know-how and experience to best them. This day's efforts will be important to the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Planetary influences somewhat restrictive. Avoid risks and impulsiveness. Make no hasty decisions and curb spending.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)
You may face some resistance, blockades to progress which you did not anticipate. Do not be dismayed. With your deep perception and will power, you can find ways to skirt them.

YOU BORN TODAY are one of the most imaginative and creative individuals in the zodiacal spectrum. You also have outstanding qualities of leadership and your personality is such that others follow you almost blindly. You are a "natural" for politics and statesmanship. You can also become a tremendous influence through writings and lecturing. As with most Geminians, the stage is a wonderful outlet for your emotions, which can also be well expressed through music and painting.

Rockefeller, Moore discount Watergate

By The Associated Press

The effects of Watergate dominated the remarks of two Republicans who came to Ohio Friday for party fundraisers.

Former New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, in Cleveland for a $100-a-plate dinner, discounted the scandal as a major cause of the party's recent loss of key congressional seats and said the people don't want a one-party Congress.

And Gov. Arch Moore of West Virginia, speaking at a rally and barbeque in Athens, called on Republicans to meet the challenge of a veto-proof Congress, saying Americans would be the losers if that happened.

Rockefeller told newsmen he expects a Republican to be elected President in 1976 and said he based the prediction on the "availability of talent" and the party's position in the country.

Rockefeller said Watergate won't play an important role in his decision on whether to run for the presidency. "Only the passage of time" can affect the decision, he said, indicating he expected to decide in the fall whether to be a candidate.

Moore called the present Democratic majority in Congress financially irresponsible and said election of a veto-proof Congress "would be the greatest invasion of the personal pocketbooks of Americans."

While Congress forces the President to spend money, Moore said, members blame him for not keeping spending down.

"There's a clever effort to subvert the attention of the American people away from the accomplishments in Washington and to put those accomplishments on the back burner," he said.

Rockefeller said he could not condone it if President Nixon were to refuse to abide by a Supreme Court order to turn over more Watergate tapes to the House Judiciary Committee, which is considering whether to recommend impeachment of the President.

"One of the great strengths of our system is that there is provision for dealing with this kind of problem."

"If he doesn't comply with a court order, it would be a basis for action by the Judiciary Committee," Rockefeller said.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

How do 'double up' when the time comes

DEAR ABBY: Here is my story: After 34 years of marriage, my wife died. I bought a double plot-one for her and one for me when my time comes. I couldn't decide what kind of headstone I wanted for my wife's grave, so I put off buying one.

Meanwhile I met a woman and things started happening so fast I couldn't believe it. To make a long story short, I married her. In the meantime, my wife's headstone slipped my mind, so my married son got disgusted with me and he bought one and put it up. Then he told me to buy two more lots-one for myself and one for my new wife because he was sure his mother wouldn't want me buried next to her if I couldn't even wait three months to get married again.

I asked him what he planned to do with the empty plot beside his mother, and he said he'd find some other dummy to bury there.

What should I do now?
PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: I'd buy an other double plot-unless your present wife has already made plans to double up with someone else when her time comes.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old married man who has had this problem ever since I could tell the difference between a boy and a girl. You guessed it. I can't resist women. Maybe I should say the problem is that women can't resist ME. I'm a pretty good looking guy (I'm told) and have an athletic build and keep in shape, but the ladies tell me it's the sexy look in my eye that gets them.

I love my wife (we've been married for seven years and have two children) but I can't leave other women alone. Right now I have something going with my best friend's wife and also with my wife's best friend. It's not a heavy love affair in either case, but it's fun.

In my defense, let me say I've never propositioned a woman in my life. They approach me, and I can't say no. Can you help me?

LADIES' MAN
DEAR MAN: I'm all choked up. You can say no if you want to. And you'd better start trying, before somebody does your wife a favor and tells her.

DEAR ABBY: After 32 years of marriage, I finally got up enough gumption to divorce my husband. Although I still cared for him, I couldn't take any more of his cruel and inhuman treatment.

One week after our divorce was final he married another woman. Now listen to this. On his honeymoon he sent ME a dozen roses with the following card: "To a lovely lady with love."

A few days later I received a menu from a resort hotel where he and I had spent our honeymoon. He had written on it: "Remember this place, Darling? Love," . . . and then his name.

This has been very upsetting to me. What do you make of it and what should I do about it?

BAFFLED
DEAR BAFFLED: Ignore it. But if he sends any more reminders of him or the past, write to him and ask him to please keep OUT of touch with you because you want to forget him. He sounds like a very cruel (or sick) man.

DEAR ABBY: A young woman wrote that she was in love with a fine young man but her mother didn't want her to marry him because he was too short.

You suggested that one should measure a man from his eyebrows up. That isn't low enough. You must go to the base of his heart, for there you will find all of his emotions, including love, which is basic to a man's character.

Garden Club makes tour

Members and guests of the Town and Country Garden Club enjoyed an all-day outing on Wednesday when they motored to Lebanon. Their first stop was at the Warren County Museum which is a continuing project of the Warren County Historical Society. There they enjoyed viewing many lovely and valuable antiques displayed in replicas of old-time shops of all kinds. The Museum tells the story of Warren County from the paleontology age to the mid-19th century. It also features an extensive historical and genealogical library and a Shaker gallery showing examples of Shaker glass, furnishings and oil paintings. The Museum curator provided much interesting information and answered many questions.

The group then enjoyed luncheon at the Golden Lamb Hotel, Ohio's oldest hotel which has been in continuous operation since 1815, and also enjoyed browsing at the many antiques on display there. They also visited the newly decorated and re-located Gift Shoppe in the hotel.

Following lunch, part of the group visited local Arts and Crafts Shops while the rest paid a visit to Glendower Stae Memorial. This home is the finest example of Greek Revival architecture and was built in the early 1840's by John

Elmwood Aid meets with Mrs. Carr

The June meeting of the Elmwood Ladies Aid Society was fun time for the organization's members as the group gathered Thursday noon for their annual picnic at the home of Mrs. James Carr. Assisting the hostess was Mrs. Willard Moore.

Included as guests were Mrs. Carl Crooks and Miss Mary Jo Cullen. Attractively decorated tables with colorful floral centerpieces were arranged in the garage for the enjoyable occasion. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Ruth Smith before the serving of the delicious picnic foods.

A short business meeting followed with Mrs. Walter Parrett, the president, in charge. Members reported on visits to nursing homes and round-robin cards were circulated and signed. Solicitation was made from the member for used sheets to be brought to the next meeting, and the making of lap robes was considered as a project for the year. Mrs. Carr was honored by the group serenading her with "Happy Birthday."

In addition to Mrs. Carr, Mrs. Moore and the two guests, those present for the picnic included Mrs. William Clarke, Mrs. Addie Barger, Mrs. Mary Stackhouse, Mrs. Emily Lanum, Mrs. Edna Blake, Mrs. Hazel Miller, Mrs. Ruth Smith, Mrs. Edith Scott, Mrs. David Lucas, Mrs. Eunice Draper, Mrs. Roy Smith, Mrs. Walter Parrett, Mrs. Margaret Newland, Mrs. Russell Riggs, Mrs. Margaret Runnels, Mrs. Billie Wilson and Mrs. Clarence Hackett.

The next meeting is scheduled for July 11th with Mrs. Edith Scott.

Good mornings

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

BREAKFAST menus get boring. It's the same old round of eggs and toast or cereal and cream. For a change of pace, here are some fruitful suggestions for the first meal of the day.

Strawberries for breakfast? Why not! With California sending an extra large crop to market, there's no better time than right now to add luscious red berries to the breakfast menu. They'll win over the I-don't-like-breakfast crowd in a wink. In addition to their sweet delicious flavor, remember that a half cup of strawberries supplies about 73 per cent of the daily vitamin C requirement. For starters, feature the strawberries in a sauce to serve over waffles, pancakes or French toast:

STRAWBERRY BREAKFAST SAUCE

1 cup sugar
2 pints California strawberries, sliced
1/2 cup orange juice
5 teaspoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
Dash salt
1 cinnamon stick
Red food color, optional
6 drops maple flavoring
Sprinkle sugar over strawberries; let stand in refrigerator 1 hour or overnight. Drain off enough strawberry juice to equal 1 cup, adding water if necessary.

In saucepan, stir strawberry juice, orange juice, cornstarch, orange peel and salt until smooth; add cinnamon stick and red food color. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and begins to boil; discard cinnamon stick. Remove from heat; stir in sliced strawberries and maple flavoring.

Serve warm with pancakes, French toast or waffles.

Makes 2-3 cups sauce
Another way to add fruit flavor to waffles is to use mashed bananas in the batter. For an easy recipe that's deliciously good make:

BANANA WAFFLES

2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 eggs, separated
1 1/4 cups milk
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 cup mashed (3 medium) ripe bananas

Try a ham and cheese souffle

HAM AND CHEESE SOUFFLE — Good choice for supper.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

Nowadays cooks who want to serve a comparatively inexpensive but interesting main course for supper are turning to souffles. They can be endlessly varied and along with crusty bread, a good salad and a fruit dessert they make a satisfying meal. Here then is a new souffle combination — grated cheddar cheese (only a cup is needed) along with a pantryshelf can of deviled ham.

HAM AND CHEESE SOUFFLE

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
Dash of cayenne pepper
1 cup milk
1 cup grated (medium fine) sharp cheddar cheese
4 1/2-ounce can deviled ham
3 eggs, separated
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

In a 2 1/2-quart saucepan over low heat melt the butter. Stir in flour, mustard and cayenne. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in the milk, keeping smooth. Cook, stirring constantly, over moderately low heat until thickened and boiling. Remove from heat; at once stir in the cheese until melted, then the deviled ham. Whisk in the egg yolks, one at a time, until blended.

Beat the egg whites with the cream of tartar until they hold stiff peaks; stir about 1/4 of the egg whites into the cheese-and-ham mixture until blended. Add remaining egg whites and fold in. Turn into a buttered straight-sided ceramic 1-quart souffle dish. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until puffed at least 1 inch above top of souffle dish and well-browned — about 50 minutes. Serve at once.
Makes 4 small servings.

KIRKPATRICK FUNERAL HOME

Dear friends,

Children should not be denied the experience of a funeral in the family as a significant part of their life. If they are excluded, it might have future trouble-some emotional implications because they could develop a sense of abandonment instead of belonging. However, no unwilling child should be made to participate.

Reds defeat Philadelphia despite Schmidt's homers

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds gave Don Gullett a comfortable lead, but the hard-throwing lefthander gave up two home runs, both to Mike Schmidt, as the Reds beat the Philadelphia Phillies 7-4 Friday night.

"He's so different from last year," said Gullett of the third baseman from nearby Dayton, Ohio, who managed only a .196 batting average in 1973.

"He's unbelievably strong. On the second home run he didn't have stride, just hit it with his hands."

"I know I'm making a lot of mistakes and home runs can beat you. The majority of runs I've given up have been on homers," Gullett said.

Gullett (7-4) has given up 11 home runs in 13 starts.

"Sure he gives up home runs," said Manager George "Sparky" Anderson. "I'm not concerned with it. When you throw that hard all the batter has to do is make contact."

Anderson praised Schmidt who has 16 home runs and 22 runs batted in. Eight of the four-baggers have come in June.

"Ron Cey, of Los Angeles, is the only third baseman in the left right now close to Schmidt offensively," said Anderson.

"I'm just being more patient," said

Schmidt, although he admitted some nervousness because his family was among the 25,238 in Riverfront Stadium. "I'm not chasing everything. I'm looking for a pitch I hit."

Philadelphia took the lead in the second when Bob Boone singled Mike Anderson, who had doubled. The Reds tied it the same inning on Gullett's sacrifice fly scoring Terry Crowley.

Schmidt hit his first homer the next inning, then the dam broke for Phils pitcher Ron Schueler (3-7).

Joe Morgan doubled and scored on John Bench's single. Tony Perez singled, Dan Driessen bunted and Schueler threw wild to allow Bench to score. Concepcion also sacrificed and Pete Rose singled two more runs.

"We don't sacrifice much. That's the first time we've bunted twice in one inning in my five years here," Anderson said.

Cincinnati has only sacrificed 21 times in 57 games this year.

In the fifth inning Schmidt belted his second homer, scoring behind Larry Bowa to end the scoring.

"The error by Schueler on Driessen's bunt really hurt us," said Phils Manager Danny Ozark. "That set up the whole inning."

Jack Billingham, 6-4, faces Jim Lonborg, 7-5, tonight for the second of the three-game series between Cincinnati and Philadelphia.

The game is preceded by an Old Timers contest.

Atlanta conquers Cardinals behind Hank Aaron's hitting

By The Associated Press

Henry Aaron is ... well, as Atlanta Manager Eddie Mathews put it, "Aaron is Aaron. What more can I say?"

Well, he could say that pitcher Roric Harrison was making like Bad Henry. Aaron slammed a Bob Gibson pitch for a solo home run — No. 11 this year and No. 724 for his career — and added a runscoring double while Harrison drilled a two-run homer to power the Braves past St. Louis 6-1 Friday night for their 20th victory in the last 27 games.

In other National League games, the Chicago Cubs outlasted Houston 10-7, Pittsburgh beat San Francisco 4-2, Los Angeles edged the New York Mets 3-2, Cincinnati slugged Philadelphia 7-4 and San Diego nipped Montreal 5-4.

"I've been lucky off Gibson," said Aaron, who has hit eight homers off the Cardinals' ace in his career. "I hit a fastball. He was throwing the ball good but he got it in a bad spot," Hank said of his second-inning shot.

That's pretty much what happened with Harrison up in the third. "He hung a slider," the Braves' pitcher explained.

Cubs 10, Astros 7

Burt Hooton, a pitcher who wasn't hitting well, became a hitter who wasn't pitching well in the Cubs' victory over Houston.

He doubled — his first hit of the year in 27 at-bats — to start a seven-run third inning and completed the explosion with a run-scoring single. But perhaps the hitting took the pitching out of him.

After Chicago built an 8-3 lead, Houston bombed the Chicago starter from the mound with a four-run fourth, three of them coming on Bob Watson's homer.

Pirates 4, Giants 2

Dock Ellis stuck to pitching and let the Pittsburgh hitters do their share.

Ellis pitched a four-hitter and got help from Richie Zisk, who belted a two-run double, and Willie Stargell, who slugged his 10th homer of the year.

Dodgers 3, Mets 2

Tom Paciorek drove in two runs with a triple and a single to help the Dodgers beat New York and snap only their second three-game losing streak of the year.

Fifteen seemed to be the magic number in the Washington Little League, Friday evening. Levi Boys nipped Charge-A-Checks 15-14 and Flashes edged Lumberjacks 15-12 in the Major League contests.

Levi Boys collected 20 of the 35 hits totaled by the two teams in the game. Chuck Wheeler's home run highlighted the one-run victory.

Lumberjacks went through five pitchers and found the Flashes unstopable. Randy Byrd struck out 10 batters and walked nine in picking up the win. Dave Turner homered for the losers.

In the Minor League, Elks blistered Eagles 23-1 and Bumgarners slipped past Roller Haven with a 10-9 victory.

Daniel Craig and Larry Pollock combined to toss a one-hitter for the Elks. Craig also doubled twice, while teammate George Dawes tripped and homered.

Bumgarners exploded for five runs in the bottom of the sixth to notch its win. Ron Murnahan doubled twice and for the losers.

Strong pitching aids Rangers in 7-2 victory over Brewers

By The Associated Press

You really have to hand it to Jim Bibby. And when he can't handle it, you have to hand it to Steve Foucault.

Despite feeling under the weather, Bibby started for the Texas Rangers Friday night and pitched strong baseball for five innings.

When Bibby buckled, Manager Billy Martin brought in his ace relief pitcher — and Foucault nailed down a 7-2 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Twins 8, Indians 2

Eric Soderholm's grand slam home run capped a seven-run explosion in the third inning that carried Minnesota over Cleveland.

The big inning started with consecutive singles by Glenn Borgmann, Luis Gomez, Jerry Terrell and Larry Hise off Bob Johnson, 3-3. The Cleveland starter retired the next two batters but Steve Braun also singled for the third run of the inning, then Craig Kuskic walked to load the bases.

Ken Sanders relieved Johnson and Soderholm greeted him with the grand-slam over the left field fence, his fifth homer of the baseball season.

Orioles 2, White Sox 1

Tommy Davis singled in the tying run and Jim Fuller's base hit produced the game-winner in a two-run eighth inning that carried Baltimore past Chicago.

Royals 4, Tigers 3

Successive fifth-inning home runs by John Mayberry and Hal McRae gave Kansas City its victory over Detroit.

Yankees 5, A's 1

Bill Sudakis drove in three runs with a home run and a double to lead New York over slumping Oakland. The A's lost their fourth game in a row and sixth in their last seven.

Angels 4, Red Sox 3

Denny Doyle ended a marathon, four-hour game with a run-scoring double in the 15th inning, giving California its victory over Boston. Mickey Rivers lined a one-out single off Luis Tiant, 8-6, who had outlasted California's Nolan Ryan, and then scored on Doyle's double into the left field corner.

Ryan had pitched brilliantly until departing after 13 innings. The California ace struck out 19 batters, two short of the major league record for extra-inning games.

Mets win first round golf title

Defeating the Yankees 11½-8½, the Mets captured the first round title in the Friday Night Golf League at the Washington Country Club. The victory gave the Mets a total of 59½ points for the first round, four and one-half points better than the second place Yankees.

In other team play, the Red defeated the Pirates 11-9 and the Dodgers beat the Cubs 11-9. The Reds turned in the low team score for the evening with a total of 217 strokes.

Jim Vess, who was substituting for the Pirates, carded the low score for the night. Vess shot a round of 36, the lowest in league play this season.

Monday evening, the Friday Night Golf League will begin its second round on the red tees with a make-up match.

REDS — Douglass Dye 38 - ½; Harry Townsend 42 - 3; Ralph Tate 46 - 3½; Burnham Light 44 - 3½; Dr. Joe Herbert 47 - ½; TOTAL 11.

Miller's chances diminish in U.S. Open title chase

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Johnny Miller almost seemed to be pleading for understanding.

"I'm not superhuman," he said Friday in the aftermath of a fat 75 — including a horrendous, quadruple-bogey seven — that all but ended his chances of a successful defense of his United States Open Golf crown.

"Let's face it," the slender blond with the All-American boy good looks said, "I've played above my head for the last year. I played probably as good as anybody in the world."

He paused, reassessed the statement and corrected himself.

"I played better than anybody else in the world. Better than Jack Nicklaus. Better than Gary Player. For the last year I've been the best player in the world."

"I won the U.S. Open. I won the World Cup (in Spain). I won the Lanncombe (in France). I won five tournaments this year. Nobody else has won that much in that length of time."

"I was playing over my head. It's ridiculous to think that I could keep up that pace."

"I'm just not that good a player."

Miller has been the most sensational player in the game for the last 12 months and has dominated the pro tour up to now. He won the first three tournaments of the year — a record performance — then added the titles in two more prestige events, the Tournament of Champions and the Heritage Classic.

He has won $203,690 for the year. Now he's calling a halt to it.

"I won't play much the rest of the year," he said. "I don't know when I'll play again."

He definitely will not play in the United States for the next five weeks. And he may skip the British Open, the next of the Big Four championships and a tournament in which he tied for second last year.

"There's an excellent chance I won't play in the British Open," he said, and explained that his wife Linda is expecting their third child about that time.

"If she wants me home for moral support about that time, I'll stay home," he said.

"It's like a miler. If he runs the first half in 1:30, he doesn't have anything left for the second half," he said

Set elections at Boys State

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — Today was election day at Buckeye Boys State. The 1,350 high school seniors participating in the exercise in government at Ashland College voted for Federalist and Nationalist party candidates, using voting machines provided by the county board of election. The two mythical parties met in convention Friday to nominate candidates and draft platforms. The American Legion-sponsored program continues through next week with Gov. John Gilligan and Chief Justice C. William O'Neill among the speakers.

Judge blasts high court speed award

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A Cincinnati judge who won an Ohio Supreme Court award for cleaning up his docket called it "a serious disservice to the cause of justice and to the bench." Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge Gilbert Bettman added that the award for "outstanding judicial service" gives the public a "wholly erroneous concept of a judge's caliber." Other judges on the same bench winning the awards were Lyle Castle and Robert V. Wood. The award is given to judges the high court feels did a good job of keeping current their dockets since Dec. 31, 1973. "It encourages the trial judges to believe that speed is more important than thoughtfulness, fairness and integrity," said Bettman. "It places first that which should be last in evaluating a judge's merit." Bettman said there are men on the bench in Ohio who may be in the "worst" in the speed category "but who in the eyes of all who have closely watched the courts would be rated among the best." Each judge must make every effort to keep his docket current, however, Bettman said. "But when we start rating getting rid of the docket before the law and before justice, it will indeed be a sad day for our country," he said.

Asked if the judge planned to refuse the award, Bettman said:

"No. It was mailed to me and I put it in a drawer."

Ladybugs to rescue

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Toledo got 3 million new residents the other day. Officials flew in that many ladybugs and released them at 35 locations in a move to combat a variety of tree and leaf diseases and to curtail the summer spraying program. Robert Mercer, assistant forestry commissioner, said the polka-dot beetles were released primarily to fight cottony maple tree scale. The problem is caused by a hard-shelled insect called the scale bug which lodges in silver maples, drawing off liquid and eventually killing twigs. Mercer said ladybugs feed on the scale bugs, eradicating the pests. The ladybugs, bought for $10 a gallon from a California farm, do the work of two, tow-man crews, machinery and insecticides which would cost about $4,600 over a two-month period, he said.

Man convicted at Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — A Scioto County Common Pleas Court Jury convicted George E. Washington, 21, of murder Friday in the slaying of Sherrie W. Moody, 22, of Portsmouth. Washington, also of Portsmouth, was accused of beating Mrs. Moody to death April 12 and dumping her body along a rural road. He will be sentenced later.

Opening lead — four of clubs.

Trumping partner's trick is generally regarded as the sign of an absolute beginner, but there are times when it is the hallmark of a very fine defender.

Consider this hand where East won the club lead with the ten and returned the ten of spades to dummy's king. Declarer led the ten of diamonds to West's queen and West led another club, which South ruffed.

Declarer then cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond in dummy, West parting with a heart. When South now ruffed dummy's last club, this became the position:

NORTH		EAST
♠ A Q 8 7 3		♠ 10
♥ A Q 8 7 3		♥ K J 10
♦ 10 9		♦ K J 8 4

♥ 9 4		♥ K J 10
♦ A 7 6 3 2		♦ K J 8 4
♣ 9		♣ A Q J 10 2

Declarer led the six of diamonds and West made the extremely farsighted play of ruffing with the seven. He knew that East had the king of diamonds, but he ruffed in order to equalize his trump length with South's.

Declarer overruffed and played the ace and another heart. East took the jack, continued with the king, and South found himself stymied. Whether he elected to ruff or to discard a diamond, East-West would inevitably score the last three tricks with the Q-9 of spades and either a heart or a club. South's J-8 of trumps were trapped either way.

The key play was West's ruff of the six of diamonds. Had he not trumped partner's trick, his last three cards would have been the Q-9-7 of spades and he would have been forced to ruff East's next lead and yield a trump trick to South's J-8.

Preventing Premature Babies

Many theories exist about why some children are born prematurely. A great deal of scientific information relating to this has been accumulating.

Now, a new theory is being greeted with great enthusiasm. It may eventually mean that prematurity and its associated problems in the newborn will be eradicated.

Dr. Arpad I. Csapo, of the Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis, has shed light on the balance between the female hormone, progesterone, and prostaglandin.

This latter substance is one that has captured the imagination of scientists everywhere because of its many valuable properties.

Dr. Csapo believes that his experimental work in animals may soon be used successfully in prolonging pregnancy to full term.

Dr. George D. Roston, a dental surgeon practicing in

New York City, says, "Thanks to a marvelous array of equipment, drugs, techniques and new insight amongst dentists, patients can now be promised painless dentistry."

"Painless" injections can truly be free of pain. Pressure guns, now in use for vaccination, can be used in dentistry, too.

High speed drills, ultrasonic vibrations and electro-surgery can all be used to virtually eliminate all pain.

Dentists, highly skilled in the mechanics of their profession, are also being trained in the delicate art of psychology to alleviate tension and fear.

Hypnosis has long been recognized as a valuable addition in attaining that ultimate goal of painless dentistry.

While drinking water, a young turkey may become hypnotized by the movements of his own head and drink on until he drowns.

Ohio had showers or thundershowers over most sections Friday night and further shower activity is likely to be scattered around the state today. That will be ahead of a cold front situated Saturday morning from a low pressure over Lake Superior, southwestward to Wisconsin and Missouri.

The low pressure is forecast to remain nearly stationary for the next 24 to 48 hours, but the cold front is expected to move east of Ohio Saturday night.

After the front, cooler weather Sunday will continue with temperatures below normal for the first part of the week.

Low readings for tonight will be in the 50s, along with considerable cloudiness and a diminishing chance of showers.

A chance of showers and cool Monday, becoming fair Tuesday and Wednesday. Highs Monday in the upper 60s and low 70s, warming to the mid to upper 70s by Wednesday. Lows in the 50s.

WCH man robbed as he exits bar

A Washington C.H. man was robbed late Friday night as he left Bert's Bar, 703 Delaware St.

City Police said Jack Bunch, 120 Blackstone St., was accosted by an unidentified man who came up behind Bunch near the intersection of Delaware Street and Western Avenue and grabbed Bunch's wallet which was attached to a chain connected to his pants.

The chain didn't hold when the man grabbed the wallet and he ran away with it and the $30 it contained, according to the report.

Washington C.H. police officers are investigating the incident and seeking the robber.

2 escape serious injury after spectacular mishap

A spectacular accident which occurred in the county early Saturday, completely demolished a car, but amazingly left its two occupants relatively uninjured.

Fayette County Sheriff, Donald L. Thompson, explained a car driven by Donald J. Campbell, 22, of 324 E. Paint St., went left of center while traveling northeast on Washington-Waterloo Road at 12:12 a.m. Saturday.

The car skidded across the road and struck a mailbox owned by Dale E. Merritt, 4158 Washington-Waterloo Rd., traveled 66 feet before colliding with a Dayton Power and Light Co. utility pole and knocking it down and then flipped over on its top, damaging four rods of Merritt's fence.

Campbell's passenger, Kenneth Carl Taylor, 18, U.S. 35, was pinned in the wreckage for a matter of minutes. Taylor showed visible signs of injury and was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service, with Campbell, who claimed injury from the mishap.

CAMPBELL was treated for pain in the left shoulder and released. Taylor was treated for multiple abrasions x-rayed and released.

Sheriff Thompson stated charges of reckless operation and driving with an expired operator's license were expected to be filed against Campbell later Saturday.

Chief Deputy Robert McArthur, Sheriff's Sgt. Bill Crooks and Deputy Don Cox appeared on the scene to assist.

An accident at the intersection of Fayette and Paint streets, between cars driven by Ronna T. Sowders, 24, of 1019 Rawling St. and Elwood John Lovett, 17, Hollis, Okla., occurred at 11:32 a.m. Friday, Washington C.H. police reported.

The passenger in the Sowders auto, Viona Nichols, 67, of 1103 Rawling St., claimed injury from the mishap, but was not treated.

Lovett was charged by police with disobeying a stop sign and damage incurred by both cars was estimated as moderate.

Stolen car found near Greenfield

A 1964 model Chevrolet owned by Jerry Quickle, of Lynchburg, which was stolen from the Mini Bar parking lot, Ohio 41-S, on June 10, has been recovered. It was found burned on the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers property at the Paint Creek flood control project on Rapid Forge Road in Ross County, just south of Greenfield, Sheriff Donald L. Thompson, of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

The car was discovered by Robert Fife, a wildlife enforcement agent for the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, while he was checking for trash dumping in the area.

Sheriff Thompson explained the car had been set afire and pushed over a 40-foot embankment and that Fife had notified the Ross County Sheriff's Department, who in turn notified the Fayette County Sheriff's Department of the recovery.

Arms aid pledged to Saudi Arabia

JIDDA, Saudi Arabia (AP) — President Nixon ended his visit to this Arab kingdom today with a pledge of increased arms aid to King Faisal.

"The United States will see to it that the level of security consistent with its responsibility to the Middle East is raised," Nixon said in remarks at King Faisal's palace.

"If Saudi Arabia is strong and secure, as it will be, it will enhance the chances for peace," the American leader said as he prepared to fly to Syria for the third leg of his Middle East tour.

Nixon flies to Israel Sunday and winds up his journey on Monday with a visit to Jordan.

Faisal responded to Nixon's pledge by expressing the hope that "all problems and blemishes that seem to exist between the United States and some Arab countries will be removed."

Faisal also criticized those who oppose Nixon in and out of the United States: "It is very important that our friends in the United States ... rally behind you in your efforts to secure peace."

"Anybody who stands against you in the United States or outside the United States of America or against your relationship with us has only one thing in mind, to splinter us and damage the chances for peace," Faisal said.

The exchange of remarks followed more than two hours of private talks between Nixon and Faisal. Unlike the toasts made at a state dinner Friday night, there was no mention, direct or indirect, of oil.

Faisal had gently reminded the United States Friday of its vulnerability to the Arab oil weapon. In what may be turning into an Arab tradition, King Faisal used the toast of a state dinner Friday night to remind Nixon of the crucial role played by the Palestinian question in the region.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat referred to the matter in a toast to Nixon on Wednesday, saying: "There is no other road for a durable peace without a political solution to the Palestinian problem."

Nixon was welcomed to Jidda Friday for an overnight stop by a friendly but traditionally lowkeyed population, contrasting to the almost hysterical crowds who greeted him in Egypt.

Brezhnev offers atom agreement

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev said Friday the Soviet Union is prepared to agree immediately with the United States on phasing out underground nuclear testing.

But Brezhnev did not indicate whether the Kremlin is prepared to allow on-site inspections — a major obstacle in previous talks.

American negotiators have consistently asserted that on-site inspections are necessary to prevent cheating, but the Soviets have argued that underground blasts can be detected electronically and have rejected on-site checks.

"We are ready to reach an agreement with the United States right now on the limitation of underground nuclear tests up to their full termination according to a coordinated timetable," Brezhnev said in a final campaign address before Sunday's elections to the Supreme Soviet.

While the outcome of such elections is predetermined, the campaign speeches are often used as a vehicle for major policy statements.

Brezhnev's declaration, coming less than two weeks before the start of President Nixon's visit here, indicated the Soviets hope that an agreement could be signed during the summit.

American technical experts have been in Moscow for two weeks exploring ways to broaden the 1963 test ban treaty, which prohibits atmospheric and undersea tests but makes no provisions for underground test.

Brezhnev's address coincided with an announcement that Nixon will attend a North Atlantic Treaty Organization summit in Brussels on June 26, the day before he departs for Moscow.

Brezhnev strongly defended Nixon's visit against "pessimistic estimations" in the foreign press. "Of course, nobody is going to solve in a rush questions which have not yet matured. But it is impossible, comrades, to make no headway."

He hailed the agreement to limit strategic arms signed by the United States and the Soviet Union in 1972, but he added: "We urge that the Soviet Union and the United States by mutual accord show the maximum restraint in further development of their armaments."

He attacked "those circles in the United States" which he said try to pin the escalation of the arms race on the Soviet Union.

Industrial output shows rise in May

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's industrial production capacity shows signs of shaking off the slump brought on by the Arab oil embargo.

The Federal Reserve Board reported on Friday that industrial output, boosted by a reviving automobile industry, rose for the second month in a row in May.

The latest rise was four-tenths of 1 per cent. Output rose three-tenths of 1 per cent in April after four straight months of decline.

Although output is strengthening, the May index of 125.4 stood four-tenths of 1 per cent above a year earlier, but below the 127.5 index for November when the impact of the embargo hit.

Federal Reserve analysts said production is still shaky on the important raw materials level, but the figures lent some hope that the administration is right in its expectation that current economic miseries are bottoming out, if they haven't already.

The current struggle for industry is to gear up its production to satisfy surging demand. Companies producing metals and other materials for durable goods like automobiles rose slightly.

Auto production itself was up almost 3 per cent in May to an annual level of 7.7 million cars. Last year at the same time, the industry was humming along at a 10 million-a-year clip.

The increase in production for durable goods suppliers was offset, however, by a decline among the manufacturers who make the basic materials for clothing and other non-durable goods.

Marriage at vets center unites World War I pair

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Maude Speake, 77-year-old former World War I Navy nurse, got a snappy salute from her new husband Friday as she became a June bride in the September of her years.

For her husband, Nicholas Walsh, World War I Army veteran, it was a first marriage at the age of 82.

Why did he wait so long to take the plunge?

"I never met a girl before I wanted to spend the rest of my life with," he said.

Mrs. Speake and Walsh were joined in matrimony in a simple service in the second floor chapel of the nursing home care unit at the Veterans Administration Center where they met. A group of nurses and patients looked on.

The Rev. George Hamilton, VA chaplain, officiated.

Walsh was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., and his bride in Elkhart, Ind. He said they met at the VA center in Dayton when he was an elevator operator.

"Maude was in a wheelchair and I always helped her in and out of the elevator," Walsh said.

"We got to know each other real well."

"Well, not too long ago I just told her that we have known each other for three years and it was about time we ended this thing and got married."

As she waited to be wheeled into the chapel, Mrs. Walsh said:

"We pulled one over on the head nurse on June 7. We told her we were going downtown shopping. We went shopping all right. We got blood tests and our marriage license."

The elderly couple was nervous. Their voices quavered as they exchanged vows. Walsh nearly dropped the wedding ring.

At the end of the ceremony the minister pronounced them man and wife and told Walsh to salute his bride.

Walsh brought his hand up quickly in a salute, then broke into laughter and bent over and kissed the new Mrs. Walsh.

Nurses and patients laughed and applauded.

Walsh said he and his bride would live at the VA center for a time and then: "We hope to get a small house in the suburbs and settle down and enjoy life together."

Dean immunity, meets linked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Meetings between President Nixon and then White House counsel John W. Dean III in February 1973 may have been aimed at giving Dean an excuse to claim executive privilege, according to a House Judiciary Committee staff memo quoted in today's Los Angeles Times.

According to the memorandum, grand jury testimony indicates that, prior to that time, Dean had been concerned that he could not make such a claim if called to testify before the Senate Watergate committee.

However, the Times noted that a cover letter to the May 24 memo from committee staff lawyer William P. Dixon said: "This memo is interpretative on my part and the facts presented herein may be interpreted differently by others."

The memo mentions grand jury testimony and other evidence to support a theory that Nixon participated in the Watergate cover-up, the Times says.

The Times quotes the memo as saying that Nixon didn't start meeting with Dean until Dean indicated fear that he would be called before the committee but wouldn't be able to claim executive privilege because he had not discussed Watergate directly with Nixon.

Nixon maintained publicly for two months thereafter that Dean could not testify because of executive privilege. He later relented on that and Dean linked the President to the cover-up in his testimony.

In other Watergate related stories:

—Washington Gov. Dan Evans said he will ask Congress to consider his proposal that Nixon be granted amnesty for any involvement in Watergate.

—Vice President Gerald R. Ford said he is certain the House will reject a move to impeach Nixon because "there just isn't any evidence."

—Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski said the House Judiciary Committee and not the Supreme Court should decide whether there was enough evidence for a grand jury to name Nixon as an indicted co-conspirator in the Watergate case.

—The U.S. Court of Appeals was asked to erase charges against the original seven Watergate break-in conspirators or at least to grant them new trials.

—U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard Gesell decided to continue with the trials of all defendants in the Ellsberg break-in case, ending uncertainty about whether the trial of John D. Ehrlichman would be separated from the others.

—Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., said leaks to the news media could threaten the rights of defendants at trials stemming from the Watergate investigation.

Treasurer denies charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic state Treasurer Gertrude Donahey Friday denied charges by her Republican challenger that she was negligent in the handling of employer contributions to the workmen's compensation fund.

Richard H. Harris of Wauseon, the GOP nominee, told newsmen Mrs. Donahey left more than $7 million in contributions in mail bags for more than two months.

Harris said he was aware of the problem because he was district office coordinator for the Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation for two years after Democrats took control of the Statehouse in 1970.

"There has never been any bureau mail or any other mail lying around in this office," Mrs. Donahey countered.

She said there was about a "two-week delay" in some of it at first because she inherited the procedures and personnel of the previous Republican administration.

She said she worked with the bureau to correct mail procedures in the office. "The old procedures, we felt, were too slow," she said.

But Harris said Mrs. Donahey was not aware that the money was in her office until notified of the funds by irked employers.

Harris, now manager of a Toledo law office, said at the time he was in charge of all of Ohio's 16 district bureau offices of workmen's compensation and was acting deputy administrator of the Cleveland office.

As a result of the negligence, he said, Joseph J. Sommer, then administrator of the bureau and now director of the Department of Administrative Services, sought transfer of the responsibility for the funds to the bureau.

"They were going to transfer the responsibility but she (Mrs. Donahey) went to the governor's office and got it stopped," Harris said.

He said the fact that the money was lying around cost taxpayers about $100,000 in interest.

Both Mrs. Donahey and Sommer said they did not talk to the governor's office about the matter.

Sommer said the mail procedure had to be changed to "work smoothly."

"At the time, I was disturbed," he said. "I said if we're going to have problems let's take the responsibility away from the treasurer and put it in the bureau."

Sommer said the $7 million figure and the $100,000 lost in interest mentioned by Harris had to be "conjecture."

I don't know where he came up with that," Sommer said.

Also at his Friday news conference, Harris announced plans for a 910-mile walking trip around the border of the state, beginning in Toledo today. He estimated the trip will take 91 days.

Harris, 42, said he will walk 10 miles each morning and travel inland by car to "meet with the people" in the afternoons and evenings.

Evidence mounts on Kissinger role

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second member of the House Judiciary Committee has said the panel has evidence contradicting sworn testimony by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger about his role in national security wiretapping.

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., said Friday that the evidence shows Kissinger ordered the telephone taps. "When the taps are made public the country will know he is guilty," Brooks said.

Another committee member, Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., said this week that the committee has positive proof that Kissinger initiated the wiretaps, despite the secretary's sworn denial. Meanwhile, Sen. J.W. Fulbright urged the Senate to wait to see the evidence before arriving at any decisions on the part played by Kissinger in the wiretaps.

Kissinger testified before the committee last September that he named persons who had access to national security information that was leaked to the news media. But he said he did not order wiretaps of 13 National Security Council staff members and four newsmen.

Recent news reports have told of a larger Kissinger role in the wiretapping.

In Beaumont, Tex., Brooks said, "I hope the Judiciary Committee will release FBI records, tapes of White House conversations and transcripts of those conversations so the public can be fully aware of whatever part Mr. Kissinger had in the selection of people who were to be bugged.... I think when that is released it will let everybody know what his part was."

Kissinger on Tuesday asked the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to take another look into his September testimony and the committee is preparing to do so. Kissinger said he would resign if his name is not cleared.

Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said Friday he feels a Senate majority was premature in approving a resolution lauding Kissinger's integrity.

Top SALT negotiator quits; takes slam at President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The resignation of a top U.S. negotiator at the SALT talks raises again the question of whether Watergate is affecting foreign policy.

Paul H. Nitze, senior Pentagon negotiator at the talks, quit Friday, leaving little doubt that he thought the scandal had weakened the ability of the Nixon administration to negotiate a strong pact with the Soviet Union.

"Until the office of the presidency has been restored to its principal function of upholding the Constitution and taking care of the fair execution of the laws, and thus be able to function effectively at home and abroad, I see no real prospect for reversing certain unfortunate trends in the evolving situation," Nitze's statement said.

Although Nitze did not mention Watergate or President Nixon, his action was a clear blow to the administration. It came less than two weeks before Nixon was to go to Moscow on June 27.

Some sources interpreted Nitze's resignation at this time as an expression to show disapproval in advance, should Nixon sign a new SALT agreement with fewer safeguards for American security than Nitze favors.

Several key members of Congress expressed similar concern Friday about Nixon's offer of nuclear aid to Egypt. They expressed fear that it might lead to nuclear weapons in the Middle East.

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., both of whom had opposed Nixon's visit to the Middle East while the House impeachment investigation is in progress, said the nuclear offer indicated they were right.

The question about the relationship between foreign policy and domestic affairs has bothered policy and lawmakers ever since the Watergate scandal erupted.

EPA slates water pollution meet Monday in Chillicothe

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency will hold a public meeting to discuss water pollution problems in the Scioto River Basin and how they can be resolved Monday, June 17 in Chillicothe.

"Communities in the basin, which extends from west of Kenton in Hardin County and North Marion to the Ohio River in Portsmouth, are discharging millions of gallons of untreated or partially treated sewage into the river daily," said Ira L. Whitman, director of the Ohio EPA. "This pollution has greatly reduced fishing and other water-related recreational opportunities for the public and we are inviting any concerned citizen to attend."

"At the same time, these discharges have increased the cost of treating sewage in communities where industries have not been adequately charged for the cost of municipal treatment of their wastes," Whitman noted. "The cost of water treatment in downstream communities has also risen accordingly."

Whitman said the Chillicothe meeting would inform area residents about the Ohio EPA's River Basin Water Quality Waste Load Allocation Report. The report, which will provide the basis for planning a water quality management program for the basin, describes the types of water pollution problems in the river. It also ranks municipal dischargers in order of severity, predicts future water consumption and discharges by residents and industry along the river, and calculates the amount by which such effluent must be reduced to meet state and federal requirements. Information included in the report also serves as the basis for issuing water discharge (NPDES) permits.

The Federal Water Pollution Control Act's amendments of 1972 instructs each state to adopt and periodically revise water quality plans for each river basin, Whitman said. Continual input is necessary from both government representatives and the general public.

Whitman said the final plan compiled by the Ohio EPA will contain the report, a ranking of sections of the river according to severity of pollution, an analysis of alternative measures needed to improve or maintain water quality, and timetables for Ohio EPA action. The plan will also provide a means of coordinating planning for municipal facilities and areawide comprehensive water programs in heavily-polluted metropolitan areas.

The public meeting will be held at Chillicothe High School, 381 Yoctangee Parkway, from 1 until 5 p.m. and to reconvene at 6:30 p.m.

Copies of the full text and a summary of the water quality report are available for public inspection in the Adams, Clark, Champaign, Clinton, Crawford, Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin, Hardin, Hocking, Highland, Jackson, Logan, Madison, Marion, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Union and Vinton county libraries.

Additional copies of the summary are available from the southeast and central district offices. The southeast district office is located at Rt. 3, Box 353, Logan, Ohio, 43188. The central district office is headquartered at 369 E. Broad St., Columbus, Ohio, 43215. Persons can also contact Cal Taylor, division of planning, 395 E. Broad Street, Columbus, (614-466-8866).

subdued in his greetings, rose at the end of the state dinner and said: "We believe that there will never be a real and lasting peace in the area unless Jerusalem is liberated and returned to Arab sovereignty, unless liberation of all the occupied Arab territories is achieved and unless Arab peoples of Palestine regain their rights ..."

Nixon's response to Faisal was the same as to Sadat.

"We want to play a helpful role ..." he said. "But we are aware that we cannot produce an instant formula to solve all long-time differences."

The king considers himself responsible for the protection of the Moslem holy places in Jerusalem and wants all Jewish participation in the Biblical city ended.

Saudi Arabia was a leader of the Arab oil boycott against the United States after last October's Middle East war, and it has implied that the embargo might be renewed if America fails in its efforts for a Middle East peace.

Fireworks ruling set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision on the legality of traditional Fourth of July fireworks will be made by Monday, government officials said Friday.

Chinese and American fireworks makers have petitioned the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission to delay until after July 4 its ban on fireworks.

The petition was filed by the Oklahoma Pyrotechnics Association, Macao Fireworks Manufacturers Association and Li and Fung Ltd., a Hong Kong trading company.

If the new regulations are put into effect, the petitions said, the firms may be forced to repurchase $50 million worth of banned fireworks.

It is an issue the PUCO is considering.

"We question the ethics of furnishing money to some agencies and not others, effectively subsidizing principles not always subscribed to by the unaware contributor, the consumer," wrote League President Clinton L. Warne.

Dr. Sweet to speak at Rotary Tuesday

Dr. David C. Sweet, director of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, will be the guest speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club Tuesday at the Country Club.

The program has been arranged by Laurence (Bucky) Dumford.

Prior to his cabinet appointment, Dr. Sweet was head of regional development programs at Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus. During his eight years at Battelle, he directed and participated in economic research studies on a wide range of subjects throughout the U.S. and abroad.

DR. SWEET has academic training in fields closely related to economic development, including geography, economics and planning. He holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Rochester, a master's degree from the University of North Carolina and a doctorate degree from Ohio State University.

In Jan. 1972, the Ohio Departments of Development and Urban Affairs were merged by Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan. The new Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development represents the first coordinated state-level effort in Ohio for economic development, planning, housing, community assistance, administration of justice, human resources and manpower development services. Gov. Gilligan named Dr. Sweet to head the agency.

The Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development is charged with implementing Gov. Gilligan's executive orders on state planning regions and service districts. Ohio's districting program is unique because it combines action to streamline state service delivery with a move to stimulate planning for regional needs at the local level.

Hog situation upsetting

Consumers are complaining about the high price of meat, livestock producers are protesting about the heavy losses they are taking, and the middlemen are asking for more pay for their services!

We reported on the beef situation and outlook recently, so we will focus on hogs and pork this time. As is often true, we study recent trends to help us foresee the future.

U.S. farmers produced a record number of hogs in 1971. There was enough pork to provide 73 pounds per person, according to USDA calculations. That was 15 per cent more than the average amount available during the 10 previous years.

RETAIL prices were marked down to induce consumers to buy the record volume of pork. Hog prices tumbled from around $27 to $15 a hundred pounds. At the same time, the blight cut corn production, boosting the cost of hog feed. Many farmers decided to close out their hog enterprises.

The result was only 67.4 pounds of pork per person in 1972, and 61.6 pounds in 1973. Beef output was also reduced, from a record 116 pounds in 1972 to 109.5 pounds in 1973. The primary reason was that ranchers and farmers retained more females for breeding, so had fewer animals to sell for slaughter.

Consumers were reluctant to give up meat one day a week or to serve smaller portions until prices were raised substantially. Then some militants staged a meat boycott, demanding that prices be reduced. Government regulations concerning prices and profits and strikes by truckers further distorted prices and the flow of livestock and meat from the farm to the consumer.

Hog prices reached a spectacular peak of $58 a hundred pounds last August. Consumers, however, did not support prices at that level, and hog prices came tumbling down. They have been around $25 recently.

There seem to be three principal reasons for the decline in hog prices. First, pork production is slightly greater than last year. Second, rising costs for many other food and nonfood items have forced many consumers to limit their spending for pork. Third, marketing costs of all kinds have been increasing rapidly. Since these added costs cannot be passed on to consumers, they are subtracted from the amounts paid to farmers.

LABOR is by far the biggest cost in moving pork from the farm lot to the consumers' grocery bag. Wage rates are increasing more rapidly this year than in 1973. Government wage restraints have been removed, and workers are demanding bigger increases because of higher inflation.

At recent prices, farmers were losing about 16 cents a pound on the pork consumers were buying. This discouraging situation is causing some farmers to quit the hog business. On the other hand, some hog producers are increasing production, hoping for higher prices.

The USDA is making a survey of hog producers. The results will be revealed on June 21. That report will show the number of hogs and pigs on farms June 1, the farmers'; farrowing intentions for June through November. Those figures should provide some clues to hog and pork prices for the next twelve months.

OHIO HISTORY — Like the pages of early Ohio history, these wooden gates on the old Miami and Erie Canal open the door to a bygone era at Independence Dam State Park east of Defiance. Visitors can visualize the boats being slowly pulled through the locks as they walk along the park's three-mile hiking trail, which used to be the towpath.

Wheat crop disease problems discussed

By JOHN GRUBER

County Extension Agent, Agriculture
During the last two weeks I have had several calls concerning disease problems in wheat, and there are many people who have been curious as to the cause of wheat going down in many fields around the county.

Well, the disease has been tentatively identified by the Plant Disease Clinic as take-all disease. This disease is a soil-borne fungus. It is not a new disease, but it has not been found too often in Ohio until this year. The disease has been identified is about 15 western and southwestern Ohio counties. It has been most serious in

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Soviet Union is devoting 26 per cent of its budget on agriculture to increase farm output and bring virgin land into production, the country's deputy minister of agriculture said Tuesday.

Dr. Boris Runov said Russia is looking to the United States for the know-how on organization and management of large-scale agribusiness enterprises, especially in the production and processing of beef, poultry, pork and dairy products.

Runov conducted a seminar at Ohio State University. He also visited agricultural research and production facilities here and conferred with university and agribusiness representatives about possible cooperation on future projects.

Ohio winter wheat crop estimated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's winter wheat crop this year is expected to be 67.8 million bushels, the state's second largest production on record and triple the 1973 output.

The Ohio Crop Reporting Service estimates, based on field conditions as of June 1, that 1,540,000 acres will be harvested. That's a 114 per cent increase from last year and the largest wheat acreage in Ohio since 1954.

The service said yield per acre is forecast at 44 bushels.

Gypsy Moth traps set

COLUMBUS — Gene R. Abercrombie, director of the Ohio Department of Agriculture, announced the ODA's Division of Plant Industry started its fourth annual campaign against the destructive Gypsy Moth recently.

Harold Porter, Chief of the Division of Plant Industry said, "Eight thousand traps will be distributed throughout Ohio by July 15th. Several agencies, including the Ohio Departments of Natural Resources and Transportation, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and, the National Campers and Hikers Association, are cooperating with the Ohio Department of Agriculture in placing the traps. The heaviest concentration of traps will be in those areas where the chances of artificial spread are high, such as campgrounds, parks, trailer courts, etc."

The dixie-cup shaped traps are baited with a synthetic sex-attractant called Disparlure and placed in trees. The bait is designed to attract and capture only the adult male Gypsy Moth, and has no toxic properties to either the moths or to humans.

ABERCROMBIE explained that the insect poses a major threat to the nation's trees. The Gypsy Moth feeds on leaves while in its caterpillar stage. A single two-inch caterpillar can eat one square foot of leaves every 24 hours. In heavily infested areas, large trees are quickly stripped of their foliage. One defoliation may kill evergreens and other softwood trees; repeated defoliations may kill hardwoods. Abercrombie emphasized that over one million acres of Pennsylvania forest were defoliated during 1973, and each year the moth continues in its westward movement.

Campers and mobile home owners can help stop the spread of Gypsy Moths by carefully inspecting the underside of trailers, hitchers, vehicles, steps, awnings, camper-trailer extensions, gas bottle rims, loose metal underneath trailers and any other equipment for the female moth's egg masses. The eggs are velvety and covered with buff or yellowish hairs. The masses are about 1½ inches long, ¾ inch wide and contain from 100 to 1,000 eggs. If any egg masses are found, they should be removed and destroyed immediately.

Director Abercrombie said, "Although 18 males have been captured in Ohio within the past three years by use of the trapping program, Ohio does not now have any known infestations within its borders."

Farm surpluses are dwindling

Throughout the world, America has been thought of as a huge storage warehouse for farm products. But no more, according to Wallace Barr, Extension economist at Ohio State University. . . "For all practical purposes our surpluses are gone," he says.

Stocks of all grains are below a year ago. Supplies of all four feed grains — corn, oats, barley and sorghum — totaled 161 million tons on January 1, 1974, seven per cent less than holdings on the same date the year before.

Wheat supplies in storage on Jan. 1 were 33 per cent less than the year before. The 1973-74 wheat picture was highlighted by a record crop, near record disappearance, record prices, and prospects for the smallest stocks in more than two and a half decades. This summer's wheat crop will be huge and record setting.

Feed grain supplies have shrunk because both domestic and foreign meat producers are increasing their herds. Grain for human consumption has flowed around the world from America's storehouses.

Thirty-four per cent of the nation's timber lies within the national forests, National Geographic says.

Opinion And Comment

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Age of double digit fidgets

We are afflicted with the "double digit" fidgets. Paul Samuelson, the Nobel Prize economist, thinks our "double digit" inflation is the Number One worry of the American people. Borrower's, spending 11 per cent for money, begin to wonder about a double digit piled on top of another double digit.

If you have to make enough money to cover a 10 per cent inflation and also to pay another 10 per cent in interest charges, that adds up to 20 per cent. Making a profit in such a climate necessarily entails pricing policies that only add to the general sickness.

How do we escape from the cul de sac? Every year, in June, William Pardridge, the editorial director of Economic Inequities in Stanardsville, Virginia, takes the combined public and private net debt figures as released by the government, and compares them to the figure for the Gross National Product. His so-called Debt-Production Ratio invariably demonstrates that borrowed money, seems powerless in our present circumstances to earn enough to provide for the extinguishment of the debts of yesterday.

It follows, as a matter of elementary logic, that we are risking a credit collapse unless we find a way to turning debt into an increase in the Gross National Product that will cover interest and amortization in addition to earning enough to meet the payroll and provide something for the investors.

IN 1973, OUR total public and private net debt advance to $2,526 billion from $2,270 billion in 1972. This means that net debt over 1972 jumped 11.3 per cent. Public net debt (Federal, state and local) went to $593.4 billion from $557.6 billion, a 6.4 per cent increase. This is the figure that most people worry about when they complain that deficit spending is a primary cause of our inflated prices. Nobody talks about the 1973 jump in private net debt to $1,932 billion from $1,713 billion in 1972, a staggering increase of 12.8 per cent.

What brothers Bill Pardridge is the five-year drift of his Debt-Production Ratio. His refined debt-production figures from 1969 to the present show an ever-widening gap between addition to borrowing and the Gross National Product. The DPR for 1969 was 2.00 It rose to 2.08 in 1970, to 2.12 in 1971 to 2.18 in 1972, and to 2.19 in 1973.

Mr. Pardridge's question is this: If the scissor blade that represents debt is always swinging away from the blade that represents product, how can you keep corporate establishments going? U.S. corporations borrowed more in the 1969-73 span than they set aside for taxes, dividends and undistributed profits. Assuming that they borrowings will pay off over, say, a 20-year period, the fact that the scissor blades have been going apart for five years would not seem lethal. But what if there is no improvement in the Debt-Production Ratio? On the record, the corporation have not been making enough money in the past five years to make any real profits.

OUR PER CAPITA debt has taken a 50 per cent jump in five years. The per capita figure for 1969 was $8,552. It was $9,117 for 1970, $9,884 for 1972, $10,860 for 1972, and $12,039 for 1973. The individual, of course, is not personally responsible for corporate or for government debt. But if there should be a national credit collapse, the individual would have to take the total rap, for he depends on business for his livelihood and on government for his protection. Even those who live on welfare transfer payments are dependent on the taxes that business generates for the food they put in their mouths. A credit collapse, says, Mr. Pardridge, would be followed by a welfare payments collapse. The result would be anarchy or dictatorship. The reason is elementary: Welfare is paid out of production.

Pardridge predicts a 10.1 per cent inflation for 1974. Paul Samuelson, though he admits to "double digit" inflation now, says the "experts" think the inflation will recede to seven or eight per cent by the fourth quarter. Query: What have the "experts" ever done about debt, both public and private, in the past five years to make Samuelson's optimism more credible than Bill Pardridge's pessimism?

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SUNDAY, JUNE 16

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)
You will find the "little" things rewarding now. Don't look for the spectacular. Be satisfied with even small gains.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)
A new outlook will help you to improve relations with family, friends. Insight may come through your highly intuitive faculties; more flexibility through the erasure of past concepts.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)
A day in which to get away from routine. New scenes, new people, new activities could spark a brand new interest in your life, make it more stimulating.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)
Do not become frustrated over possible delays or disappointments. With your innate intelligence and ingenuity, you can change undesirable situations.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)
Fine solar influences! With initiative and enterprise, more than usual can be achieved. Day will definitely respond to imagination, aggressiveness.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
A day for listening well and voicing well-considered opinions. Take stock of why certain maneuvers and tactics did not succeed in the past and avoid them now.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 23)
Your financial situation about to improve. A member of the opposite sex will provide useful information — and inspiration. You will know what has to be done.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Some favorable hours; others may present unexpected obstacles. With a steady step and self-confidence, however, you can take all in stride.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Present tendencies toward impulsiveness and excitement suggest that you handle all situations with "kid gloves." Regulate hours so that you will have time to enjoy a hobby.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Make no changes in matters now running smoothly, but keep looking nevertheless, toward areas in which there could be "standstills," where new tactics may be needed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Generous stellar influences make this an excellent day for making the most of unusual ideas and plans. Romance favored, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)
Fine Neptune influences. A good day for making important decisions. Also favored: maritime interests, outdoor pursuits (especially if connected with water), parapsychological experiments.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely versatile individual, intellectual in your leanings and outgoing in personality. Like most Geminians, you are unusually restless and constantly crave changes in activity and scenery. Thus you often scatter your energies, with resultant anxieties and tensions. You MUST learn to relax, and DO try to finish one project before taking up another, thus to avert confusion, and even chaos, in your life. You can become highly skilled with your hands and, in everything, your intuition and unusual sense of know-how keeps you in advance of the competition. You are tremendously interested in people and public affairs; would make an excellent journalist or lecturer. Also, endowed with insatiable curiosity, could excel as a detective or scientist. Other fields suited to your talents: the law, theater, advertising, architecture, painting and music. You are a born traveler and explorer; in fact, get more out of travel than those born under any other zodiacal Sign.

MONDAY, JUNE 17
ARIES (March 21 to April 20)
Routine activities can go along nicely if you are in the driver's seat. Where you are an observer, be an astute, quiet one — but alert to new trends.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)
Under day's favorable influences, you can win new laurels by capitalizing on your fine imagination and by pooling ideas with those who share your enthusiasms.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)
Waste no time getting this day out of the planning stage and into enthusiastic, well-executed action. Any possible obstacle should stimulate you — not dismay.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)
Though many means for advancement exist, there is a possibility of throwing a wrench into the machinery through wrong attitudes, suspicion, tactless approaches. Care!

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)
A custom-made day for you and your activities. Especially favored: theatrical interests, legal activities, dealings in art objects.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Especially favored now: business and financial interests. Competition may be keen, but where you have the know-how, don't be afraid to get into the race.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
You are usually more than competent in handling difficulties "on your own" but this will be a day when you'll need a bit of advice. If so, seek it from experts only.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Be prepared for some opposition and be ready to counter — with tact. If well-planned, you could launch a new venture, but don't rush into the totally unfamiliar.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Jupiter influences indicate an extremely active day. Things should move along briskly, and you with them. But don't scatter your energies.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Some challenges indicated, but you have the know-how and experience to best them. This day's efforts will be important to the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Planetary influences somewhat restrictive. Avoid risks and impulsiveness. Make no hasty decisions and curb spending.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)
You may face some resistance, blockades to progress which you did not anticipate. Do not be dismayed. With your deep perception and will power, you can find ways to skirt them.

YOU BORN TODAY are one of the most imaginative and creative individuals in the zodiacal spectrum. You also have outstanding qualities of leadership and your personality is such that others follow you almost, blindly. You are a "natural" for politics and statesmanship. You can also become a tremendous influence through writings and lecturing. As with most Geminians, the stage is a wonderful outlet for your emotions, which can also be well expressed through music and painting.

"WHAT A DRAG, WHEN YOU'VE DUSTED OFF ONE SUBPOENA, YOU'VE DUSTED THEM ALL."

Rockefeller, Moore discount Watergate

By The Associated Press
The effects of Watergate dominated the remarks of two Republicans who came to Ohio Friday for party fundraisers.

Former New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, in Cleveland for a $100-a-plate dinner, discounted the scandal as a major cause of the party's recent loss of key congressional seats and said the people don't want a one-party Congress.

And Gov. Arch Moore of West Virginia, speaking at a rally and barbeque in Athens, called on Republicans to meet the challenge of a veto-proof Congress, saying Americans would be the losers if that happened. Rockefeller told newsmen he expects a Republican to be elected President in 1976 and said he based the prediction on the "availability of talent" and the party's position in the country.

Rockefeller said Watergate won't play an important role in his decision on whether to run for the presidency. "Only the passage of time" can affect the decision, he said, indicating he expected to decide in the fall whether to be a candidate.

Moore called the present Democratic majority in Congress financially irresponsible and said election of a veto-proof Congress "would be the greatest invasion of the personal pocketbooks of Americans."

While Congress forces the President to spend money, Moore said, members blame him for not keeping spending down.

"There's a clever effort to divert the attention of the American people away from the accomplishments in Washington and to put those accomplishments on the back burner," he said.

Rockefeller said he could not condone it if President Nixon were to refuse to abide by a Supreme Court order to turn over more Watergate tapes to the House Judiciary Committee, which is considering whether to recommend impeachment of the President.

"One of the great strengths of our system is that there is provision for dealing with this kind of problem. If he doesn't comply with a court order, it would be a basis for action by the Judiciary Committee," Rockefeller said.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

How do 'double up' when the time comes

DEAR ABBY: Here is my story: After 34 years of marriage, my wife died. I bought a double plot-one for her and one for me when my time comes. I couldn't decide what kind of headstone I wanted for my wife's grave, so I put off buying one.

Meanwhile I met a woman and things started happening so fast I couldn't believe it. To make a long story short, I married her. In the meantime, my wife's headstone slipped my mind, so my married son got disgusted with me and he bought one and put it up. Then he told me to buy two more lots-one for myself and one for my new wife because he was sure his mother wouldn't want me buried next to her if I couldn't even wait three months to get married again.

I asked him what he planned to do with the empty plot beside his mother, and he said he'd find some other dummy to bury there.

What should I do now?

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: I'd buy an other double plot-unless your present wife has already made plans to double up with someone else when her time comes.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old married man who has had this problem ever since I could tell the difference between a boy and a girl. You guessed it. I can't resist women. Maybe I should say the problem is that women can't resist ME. I'm a pretty good looking guy (I'm told) and have an athletic build and keep in shape, but the ladies tell me it's the sexy look in my eye that gets them.

I love my wife (we've been married for seven years and have two children) but I can't leave other women alone. Right now I have something going with my best friend's wife and also with my wife's best friend. It's not a heavy love affair in either case, but it's fun.

In my defense, let me say I've never propositioned a woman in my life. They approach me, and I can't say no. Can you help me?

LADIES' MAN
DEAR MAN: I'm all choked up. You can say no if you want to. And you'd better start trying, before somebody does your wife a favor and tells her.

DEAR ABBY: After 32 years of marriage, I finally got up enough gumption to divorce my husband. Although I still cared for him, I couldn't take any more of his cruel and inhuman treatment.

One week after our divorce was final he married another woman. Now listen to this. On his honeymoon he sent ME a dozen roses with the following card: "To a lovely lady with love."

A few days later I received a menu from a resort hotel where he and I had spent our honeymoon. He had written on it: "Remember this place, Darling? Love," . . . and then his name.

This has been very upsetting to me. What do you make of it and what should I do about it?

BAFFLED
DEAR BAFFLED: Ignore it. But if he sends any more reminders of him or the past, write to him and ask him to please keep OUT of touch with you because you want to forget him. He sounds like a very cruel (or sick) man.

DEAR ABBY: A young woman wrote that she was in love with a fine young man but her mother didn't want her to marry him because he was too short.

You suggested that one should measure a man from his eyebrows up. That isn't low enough. You must go to the base of his heart, for there you will find all of his emotions, including love, which is basic to a man's character.

DEAR RAY: Right on!

Garden Club makes tour

Members and guests of the Town and Country Garden Club enjoyed an all-day outing on Wednesday when they motored to Lebanon. Their first stop was at the Warren County Museum which is a continuing project of the Warren County Historical Society. There they enjoyed viewing many lovely and valuable antiques displayed in replicas of old-time shops of all kinds. The Museum tells the story of Warren County from the paleontology age to the mid-19th century. It also features an extensive historical and geneological library and a Shaker gallery showing examples of Shaker glass, furnishings and oil paintings. The Museum curator provided much interesting information and answered many questions.

The group then enjoyed luncheon at the Golden Lamb Hotel, Ohio's oldest hotel which has been in continuous operation since 1815, and also enjoyed browsing at the many antiques on display there. They also visited the newly decorated and re-located Gift Shoppe in the hotel.

Following lunch, part of the group visited local Arts and Crafts Shops while the rest paid a visit to Glendower Stae Memorial. This home is the finest example of Greek Revival architecture and was built in the early 1840's by John

The June meeting of the Elmwood Ladies Aid Society was fun time for the organization's members as the group gathered Thursday noon for their annual picnic at the home of Mrs. James Carr. Assisting the hostess was Mrs. Willard Moore.

Included as guests were Mrs. Carl Crooks and Miss Mary Jo Cullen. Attractively decorated tables with colorful floral centerpieces were arranged in the garage for the enjoyable occasion. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Ruth Smith before the serving of the delicious picnic foods.

A short business meeting followed with Mrs. Walter Parrett, the president, in charge. Members reported on visits to nursing homes and round-robin cards were circulated and signed. Solicitation was made from the member for used sheets to be brought to the next meeting, and the making of lap robes was considered as a project for the year. Mrs. Carr was honored by the group serenading her with "Happy Birthday."

In addition to Mrs. Carr, Mrs. Moore and the two guests, those present for the picnic included Mrs. William Clarke, Mrs. Addie Barger, Mrs. Mary Stackhouse, Mrs. Emily Lanum, Mrs. Edna Blake, Mrs. Hazel Miller, Mrs. Ruth Smith, Mrs. Edith Scott, Mrs. David Lucas, Mrs. Eunice Draper, Mrs. Roy Smith, Mrs. Walter Parrett, Mrs. Margaret Newland, Mrs. Russell Riggs, Mrs. Margaret Runnels, Mrs. Billie Wilson and Mrs. Clarence Hackett.

The next meeting is scheduled for July 11th with Mrs. Edith Scott.

Good mornings

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

BREAKFAST SULLIVAN get boring. It's the same old round of eggs and toast or cereal and cream. For a change of pace, here are some fruitful suggestions for the first meal of the day.

Strawberries for breakfast? Why not! With California sending an extra large crop to market, there's no better time than right now to add luscious red berries to the breakfast menu. They'll win over the I-don't-like-breakfast crowd in a wink. In addition to their sweet delicious flavor, remember that a half cup of strawberries supplies about 73 per cent of the daily vitamin C requirement. For starters, feature the strawberries in a sauce to serve over waffles, pancakes or French toast:

STRAWBERRY BREAKFAST SAUCE

1 cup sugar
2 pints California strawberries, sliced
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
Dash salt
1 cinnamon stick
Red food color, optional
6 drops maple flavoring
Sprinkle sugar over strawberries; let stand in refrigerator 1 hour or overnight. Drain off enough strawberry juice to equal 1 cup, adding water if necessary.

In saucepan, stir strawberry juice, orange juice, cornstarch, orange peel and salt until smooth; add cinnamon stick and red food color. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and begins to boil; discard cinnamon stick. Remove from heat; stir in sliced strawberries and maple flavoring.

Serve warm with pancakes, French toast or waffles.

Makes 2-3 cups sauce
Another way to add fruit flavor to waffles is to use mashed bananas in the batter. For an easy recipe that's deliciously good make:

BANANA WAFFLES

2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 eggs, separated
1 1/4 cups milk
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 cup mashed (3 medium) ripe bananas

Try a ham and cheese souffle

HAM AND CHEESE SOUFFLE—Good choice for supper.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Nowadays cooks who want to serve a comparatively inexpensive but interesting main course for supper are turning to souffles. They can be endlessly varied and along with crusty bread, a good salad and a fruit dessert they make a satisfying meal. Here then is a new souffle combination — grated cheddar cheese (only a cup is needed) along with a pantryshelf can of deviled ham.

HAM AND CHEESE SOUFFLE
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
Dash of cayenne pepper
1 cup milk
1 cup grated (medium fine) sharp cheddar cheese
4 1/2-ounce can deviled ham
3 eggs, separated
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

In a 2 1/2-quart saucepan over low heat melt the butter. Stir in flour, mustard and cayenne. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in the milk, keeping smooth. Cook, stirring constantly, over moderately low heat until thickened and boiling. Remove from heat; at once stir in the cheese until melted, then the deviled ham. Whisk in the egg yolks, one at a time, until blended.

Beat the egg whites with the cream of tartar until they hold stiff peaks; stir about 1/4 of the egg whites into the cheese-and-ham mixture until blended. Add remaining egg whites and fold in. Turn into a buttered straight-sided ceramic 1-quart souffle dish. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until puffed at least 1 inch above top of souffle dish and well-browned — about 50 minutes. Serve at once.

Makes 4 small servings.

Dear friends,

Children should not be denied the experience of a funeral in the family as a significant part of their life. If they are excluded, it might have future troublesome emotional implications because they could develop a sense of abandonment instead of belonging. However, no unwilling child should be made to participate.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds gave Don Gullett a comfortable lead, but the hard-throwing lefthander gave up two home runs, both to Mike Schmidt, as the Reds beat the Philadelphia Phillies 7-4 Friday night.

"He's so different from last year," said Gullett of the third baseman from nearby Dayton, Ohio, who managed only a .196 batting average in 1973.

"He's unbelievably strong. On the second home run he didn't have stride, just hit it with his hands."

Strong pitching aids Rangers in 7-2 victory over Brewers

By The Associated Press

You really have to hand it to Jim Bibby. And when he can't handle it, you have to hand it to Steve Foucault.

Despite feeling under the weather, Bibby started for the Texas Rangers Friday night and pitched strong baseball for five innings.

When Bibby buckled, Manager Billy Martin brought in his ace relief pitcher — and Foucault nailed down a 7-2 vic-

"I know I'm making a lot of mistakes and home runs can beat you. The majority of runs I've given up have been on homers," Gullett said.

Gullett (7-4) has given up 11 home runs in 13 starts.

"Sure he gives up home runs," said Manager George "Sparky" Anderson. "I'm not concerned with it. When you throw that hard all the batter has to do is make contact."

Anderson praised Schmidt who has 16 home runs and 22 runs batted in. Eight of the four-baggers have come in June.

"Ron Cey, of Los Angeles, is the only third baseman in the left right now close to Schmidt offensively," said Anderson.

"I'm just being more patient," said

Schmidt, although he admitted some nervousness because his family was among the 25,238 in Riverfront Stadium. "I'm not chasing everything. I'm looking for a pitch I hit."

Philadelphia took the lead in the second when Bob Boone singled Mike Anderson, who had doubled. The Reds tied it the same inning on Gullett's sacrifice fly scoring Terry Crowley.

Schmidt hit his first homer the next inning, then the dam broke for Phils pitcher Ron Schueler (3-7).

Joe Morgan doubled and scored on John Bench's single. Tony Perez singled, Dan Driessen bunted and Schueler threw wild to allow Bench to score. Concepcion also sacrificed and Pete Rose singled two more runs.

"We don't sacrifice much. That's the first time we've bunted twice in one inning in my five years here," Anderson said.

Cincinnati has only sacrificed 21 times in 57 games this year.

In the fifth inning Schmidt belted his second homer, scoring behind Larry Bowa to end the scoring.

"The error by Schueler on Driessen's bunt really hurt us," said Phils Manager Danny Ozark. "That set up the whole inning."

Jack Billingham, 6-4, faces Jim Lonborg, 7-5, tonight for the second of the three-game series between Cincinnati and Philadelphia.

The game is preceded by an Old Timers contest.

Atlanta conquers Cardinals behind Hank Aaron's hitting

By The Associated Press

Henry Aaron is ... well, as Atlanta Manager Eddie Mathews put it, "Aaron is Aaron. What more can I say?"

Well, he could say that pitcher Roric Harrison was making like Bad Henry. Aaron slammed a Bob Gibson pitch for a solo home run — No. 11 this year and No. 724 for his career — and added a run-scoring double while Harrison drilled a two-run homer to power the Braves past St. Louis 6-1 Friday night for their 20th victory in the last 27 games.

In other National League games, the Chicago Cubs outlasted Houston 10-7, Pittsburgh beat San Francisco 4-2, Los Angeles edged the New York Mets 3-2, Cincinnati slugged Philadelphia 7-4 and San Diego nipped Montreal 5-4.

"I've been lucky off Gibson," said Aaron, who has hit eight homers off the Cardinals' ace in his career. "I hit a fastball. He was throwing the ball good but he got it in a bad spot," Hank said of his second-inning shot.

That's pretty much what happened with Harrison up in the third. "He hung a slider," the Braves' pitcher explained.

Cubs 10, Astros 7

Burt Hooton, a pitcher who wasn't hitting well, became a hitter who wasn't pitching well in the Cubs' victory over Houston.

He doubled — his first hit of the year in 27 at-bats — to start a seven-run third inning and completed the explosion with a run-scoring single. But perhaps the hitting took the pitching out of him.

After Chicago built an 8-3 lead, Houston bombed the Chicago starter from the mound with a four-run fourth, three of them coming on Bob Watson's homer.

Pirates 4, Giants 2

Dock Ellis stuck to pitching and let the Pittsburgh hitters do their share.

Ellis pitched a four-hitter and got help from Richie Zisk, who belted a two-run double, and Willie Stargell, who slugged his 10th homer of the year.

Dodgers 3, Mets 2

Tom Paciorek drove in two runs with a triple and a single to help the Dodgers beat New York and snap only their second three-game losing streak of the year.

Two clubs win with 15 runs

Fifteen seemed to be the magic number in the Washington Little League, Friday evening. Levi Boys nipped Charge-A-Checks 15-14 and Flashes edged Lumberjacks 15-12 in the Major League contests.

Levi Boys collected 20 of the 35 hits totaled by the two teams in the game. Chuck Wheeler's home run highlighted the one-run victory.

Lumberjacks went through five pitchers and found the Flashes unstoppable. Randy Byrd struck out 10 batters and walked nine in picking up the win. Dave Turner homered for the losers.

In the Minor League, Elks blistered Eagles 23-1 and Bumgarner slipped past Roller Haven with a 10-9 victory.

Daniel Craig and Larry Pollock combined to toss a one-hitter for the Elks. Craig also doubled twice, while teammate George Dawes tripped and homered.

Bumgarner exploded for five runs in the bottom of the sixth to notch its win. Ron Murnahan doubled twice and for the losers.

Set elections at Boys State

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — Today was election day at Buckeye Boys State. The 1,350 high school seniors participating in the exercise in government at Ashland College voted for Federalist and Nationalist party candidates, using voting machines provided by the county board of election. The two mythical parties met in convention Friday to nominate candidates and draft platforms. The American Legion-sponsored program continues through next week with Gov. John Gilligan and Chief Justice C. William O'Neill among the speakers.

Judge blasts high court speed award

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A Cincinnati judge who won an Ohio Supreme Court award for cleaning up his docket called it "a serious disservice to the cause of justice and to the bench."
Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge Bettman added that the award for "outstanding judicial service" gives the public a "wholly erroneous concept of a judge's caliber."
Other judges on the same bench winning the awards were Lyle Castle and Robert V. Wood.
The award is given to judges the high court feels did a good job of keeping current their dockets since Dec. 31, 1973.
"It encourages the trial judges to believe that speed is more important than thoughtfulness, fairness and integrity," said Bettman.
"It places first that which should be last in evaluating a judge's merit."
Bettman said there are men on the bench in Ohio who may be in the "worst" in the speed category "but who in the eyes of all who have closely watched the courts would be rated among the best."

Each judge must make every effort to keep his docket current, however, Bettman said.
"But when we start rating getting rid of the docket before the law and before justice, it will indeed be a sad day for our country," he said.

Asked if the judge planned to refuse the award, Bettman said:
"No. It was mailed to me and I put it in a drawer."

Ladybugs to rescue

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Toledo got 3 million new residents the other day. Officials flew in that many ladybugs and released them at 35 locations in a move to combat a variety of tree and leaf diseases and to curtail the summer spraying program.
Robert Mercer, assistant forestry commissioner, said the polka-dot beetles were released primarily to fight cottony maple tree scale.
The problem is caused by a hard-shelled insect called the scale bug which lodges in silver maples, drawing off liquid and eventually killing twigs.
Mercer said ladybugs feed on the scale bugs, eradicating the pests.
The ladybugs, bought for $10 a gallon from a California farm, do the work of two, tow-man crews, machinery and insecticides which would cost about $4,600 over a two-month period, he said.

Man convicted at Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — A Scioto County Common Pleas Court Jury convicted George E. Washington, 21, of murder Friday in the slaying of Sherrie W. Moody, 22, of Portsmouth. Washington, also of Portsmouth, was accused of beating Mrs. Moody to death April 12 and dumping her body along a rural road.
He will be sentenced later.

Opening lead — four of clubs.

Trumping partner's trick is generally regarded as the sign of an absolute beginner, but there are times when it is the hallmark of a very fine defender.

Consider this hand where East won the club lead with the ten and returned the ten of spades to dummy's king. Declarer led the ten of diamonds to West's queen and West led another club, which South ruffed.

Declarer then cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond in dummy, West parting with a heart. When South now ruffed dummy's last club, this became the position:

North		West		East		South
AA	AA	Q 9 7	Q 9 7	K J 10	K J 10	J 8	J 8
AQ 8 7 3	AQ 8 7 3	6 5	6 5	K	K	9 4	9 4
		8	8	Q J	Q J	7 6	7 6

Declarer led the six of diamonds and West made the extremely farsighted play of ruffing with the seven. He knew that East had the king of diamonds, but he ruffed in order to equalize his trump length with South's.

Declarer overruffed and played the ace and another heart. East took the jack, continued with the king, and South found himself stymied. Whether he elected to ruff or to discard a diamond, East-West would inevitably score the last three tricks with the Q-9 of spades and either a heart or a club. South's J-8 of trumps were trapped either way.

The key play was West's ruff of the six of diamonds. Had he not trumped partner's trick, his last three cards would have been the Q-9-7 of spades and he would have been forced to ruff East's next lead and yield a trump trick to South's J-8.

Preventing Premature Babies

Many theories exist about why some children are born prematurely. A great deal of scientific information relating to this has been accumulating.

Now, a new theory is being greeted with great enthusiasm. It may eventually mean that prematurity and its associated problems in the newborn will be eradicated.

Dr. Arpad I. Csapo, of the Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis, has shed light on the balance between the female hormone, progesterone, and prostaglandin.

This latter substance is one that has captured the imagination of scientists everywhere because of its many valuable properties.

Dr. Csapo believes that his experimental work in animals may soon be used successfully in prolonging pregnancy to full term.

Dr. George D. Roston, a dental surgeon practicing in

New York City, says, "Thanks to a marvelous array of equipment, drugs, techniques and new insight amongst dentists, patients can now be promised painless dentistry."

"Painless" injections can truly be free of pain. Pressure guns, now in use for vaccination, can be used in dentistry, too.

High speed drills, ultrasonic vibrations and electro-surgery can all be used to virtually eliminate all pain.

Dentists, highly skilled in the mechanics of their profession, are also being trained in the delicate art of psychology to alleviate tension and fear.

Hypnosis has long been recognized as a valuable addition in attaining that ultimate goal of painless dentistry.

While drinking water, a young turkey may become hypnotized by the movements of his own head and drink on until he drowns.

By The Associated Press
Ohio had showers or thundershowers over most sections Friday night and further shower activity is likely to be scattered around the state today. That will be ahead of a cold front situated Saturday morning from a low pressure over Lake Superior, southwestward to Wisconsin and Missouri.

The low pressure is forecast to remain nearly stationary for the next 24 to 48 hours, but the cold front is expected to move east of Ohio Saturday night.

After the front, cooler weather Sunday will continue with temperatures below normal for the first part of the week.
Low readings for tonight will be in the 50s, along with considerable cloudiness and a diminishing chance of showers.

A chance of showers and cool Monday, becoming fair Tuesday and Wednesday. Highs Monday in the upper 60s and low 70s, warming to the mid to upper 70s by Wednesday. Lows in the 50s.

WCH man robbed as he exits bar

A Washington C.H. man was robbed late Friday night as he left Bert's Bar, 703 Delaware St.

City Police said Jack Bunch, 120 Blackstone St., was accosted by an unidentified man who came up behind Bunch near the intersection of Delaware Street and Western Avenue and grabbed Bunch's wallet which was attached to a chain connected to his pants.

The chain didn't hold when the man grabbed the wallet and he ran away with it and the $30 it contained, according to the report.

Washington C.H. police officers are investigating the incident and seeking the robber.

2 escape serious injury after spectacular mishap

A spectacular accident which occurred in the county early Saturday, completely demolished a car, but amazingly left its two occupants relatively uninjured.

Fayette County Sheriff, Donald L. Thompson, explained a car driven by Donald J. Campbell, 22, of 324 E. Paint St., went left of center while traveling northeast on Washington-Waterloo Road at 12:12 a.m. Saturday.

The car skidded across the road and struck a mailbox owned by Dale E. Merritt, 4158 Washington-Waterloo Rd., traveled 66 feet before colliding with a Dayton Power and Light Co. utility pole and knocking it down and then flipped over on its top, damaging four rods of Merritt's fence.

Campbell's passenger, Kenneth Carl Taylor, 18, U.S. 35, was pinned in the wreckage for a matter of minutes. Taylor showed visible signs of injury and was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service, with Campbell, who claimed injury from the mishap.

CAMPBELL was treated for pain in the left shoulder and released. Taylor was treated for multiple abrasions x-rayed and released.

Sheriff Thompson stated charges of reckless operation and driving with an expired operator's license were expected to be filed against Campbell later Saturday.

Chief Deputy Robert McArthur, Sheriff's Sgt. Bill Crooks and Deputy Don Cox appeared on the scene to assist.

An accident at the intersection of Fayette and Paint streets, between cars driven by Ronna T. Sowders, 24, of 1019 Rawling St. and Elwood John Lovett, 17, Hollis, Okla., occurred at 11:32 a.m. Friday, Washington C.H. police reported.

The passenger in the Sowders auto, Viona Nichols, 67, of 1103 Rawling St., claimed injury from the mishap, but was not treated.

Lovett was charged by police with disobeying a stop sign and damage incurred by both cars was estimated as moderate.
